Selectmen will present counsel with split contract

Chairman: DeRensis does not seem "keen" on monetary cap

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - The appointment of Wilmington's town counsel has been postponed.

During a meeting on Monday, May 10, the Board of Selectmen was scheduled to make the appointment but instead chose to postpone it, given the lack of a formal response by current Town Counsel Paul DeRensis in regard to his firm's interest in continuing to provide services for Wilmington under a monetarily capped fee.

The board did take the occasion of Monday night to work out the structure of the contract to be offered to DeRensis.

During its previous meeting, the board formed a subcommittee, consisting of Selectmen Michael Newhouse and Suzanne Sullivan and Water & Sewer Co-Commissioner Joseph Balliro. The subcommittee was charged with drafting and negotiating a contract for town counsel services for Fiscal Year 2005.

The board was unanimous in its desire to place a monetary cap on legal fees. DeRensis, of Deutsch, Williams, Brooks, DeRensis & Holland, P.C. (DWBDH), is currently working as Wilmington's Town Counsel under an agreement in which the town pays a monthly retainer fee and hourly billing for litigation and specialized services.

The town had historically paid a flat fee for legal services, a practice that was abandoned at the insistence of DeRensis in December of 2003, in favor of the current monetarily open-ended agreement.

According to Newhouse, several methods exist for implementing a ceiling on legal fees incurred by the town.

The town's previous practice of a flat rate, also known, according to Newhouse, as a fixed fee or a retainer, included an established annual cost for legal services which was billed on a monthly basis in 12 equal payments.

The town could also consider, Newhouse continued, a capped fee. Under a capped fee, Town

Counsel would bill on an hourly basis, at a pre-determined hourly rate, for all legal services provided to Wilmington, but at no point would billing exceed an established annual dollar amount.

Sullivan suggested that a cap could be added to the current contract to attain the same end. "I think using an hourly rate (for all legal services) would be the wrong thing to do," Sullivan said.

Sullivan asked Selectmen Chairman Michael McCoy if he would like to review invoices every month.

"The only advantage would be that if it is a slow year, we might not spend the entire budget," McCoy said.

Sullivan reminded the board that when Newhouse served as Town Counsel from 2001 to 2002, he stated in the Annual Town Report that between 35 and 40 hours a week were spent on town counsel-related business. DeRensis is currently charging the town $165 hourly for billable services; Sullivan extrapolated that figure by 40 hours a week and by 52 weeks, reaching a figure of roughly $343,000.

"If counsel puts as much work in as Mr. Newhouse says he has put in in the past, you're talking about a very large amount of money," Sullivan said.

Selectman Frank West agreed to a split rate. He stated that a full legal review between the board and Town Counsel should be done, so that the board could be prepared for the legal services needed in the upcoming year.

Newhouse agreed, but stated that the ultimate decision on legal services to be provided to the town rested with the board.

"I have no objection to meeting with counsel to get his vision of what legal services are going to be required next year, but, frankly, at the end of the day, that's like asking your barber if you need a haircut," said Newhouse, referring to his less than full head of hair. "I still have twelve bucks worth, according to my barber."

McCoy stated four times that he would really like to know whether DeRensis would accept a cap of any kind prior to mak-

North Intermediate School

Parent alleges Sick School Syndrome

By STEPHEN BJORK

WILMINGTON - The North Intermediate School is currently under scrutiny following allegations of Sick Building Syndrome.

Wilmington resident Tracy Arsenault appeared before the Board of Selectmen on Monday night to share her grave concerns surrounding her daughter's health.

"My daughter was diagnosed in March with having Sick School Syndrome," Arsenault said. "I'm just wondering if the board can help me fix this situation that my daughter is now in."

Arsenault has pulled her child out of the North Intermediate School as of March 11 and is having her tutored at home. According to Arsenault, symptoms of headaches, nausea, and lethargy began three weeks into the school year back in September and were reported to school officials at that time.

Selectmen Chairman Michael McCoy empathized with Arsenault's frustration and assured her that the board would do whatever was possible to assist her and her daughter.

"I have a son that goes to the North Intermediate, and even if I didn't have a child in that school it is a concern of the community," McCoy said. "I know that several years ago there was an issue, and the town did take the necessary steps to take care of the situation."

McCoy was referring to steps taken by the town following a report on the school that was prepared by the Bureau of Environmental Health Assessment (BEHA) in March of 1997.

The report found levels of carbon dioxide to be far above comfort guidelines set by the BEHA that indicated an overall ventilation problem in the school. BEHA guidelines indicate a preferred level of 600 ppm or less for school environments and 800 ppm for publicly occupied buildings. All rooms at the school tested at no less than 800 ppm, with some exceeding 2,000 ppm.

"Carbon dioxide is not a problem in and of itself," the report states. "It is used as an indicator of the adequacy of fresh air ventilation."

Increased levels of carbon dioxide indicate a malfunctioning ventilation system or the design occupancy of the room is being exceeded and a buildup of indoor pollutants can occur, "leading to discomfort or health complaints."

The report identifies inadequate ventilation and/or elevated temperatures as major causes of health complaints, including respiratory, eye, nose and throat irritation, lethargy, and headaches.

A number of recommendations were provided by BEHA to remedy the situation, and, according to Superintendent of Schools William McAlduff, he requested a copy of the 1997 report and verified that the school system did everything recommended.

McAlduff states that he has been aware of Ms. Arsenault's concerns since January and immediately met with the Board of Health, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH), the Department of Public Buildings, and the Public Health Nurse to assess the situation.

"If something is wrong with one of our buildings, we want to know," McAlduff said. "Our job is to protect the children and to provide them with the best possible learning environment."

Cory Holmes of the DPH visited and inspected the North Intermediate School on March 11, 2004, monitoring levels of carbon dioxide, carbon monoxide, temperature, humidity, volatile gases, and particulate matter.

The town is still waiting for the DPH's written report and has put a rush on it, but the ini-

Task force appointed to begin talks for cable license

Comcast's current license expires in 2007

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - The Board of Selectmen has appointed a task force to gather information and conduct negotiations for a license renewal between Wilmington and Comcast, its cable provider.

The town's current cable contract, which was signed in 1997, expires on March 24, 2007. Originally, the contract was signed between the town and Continental Cable. During the past few years, however, transfers have taken place, placing the town's cable services in the hands of Media One, AT&T Broadband and, ultimately, Comcast.

The town received a letter from Comcast on April 7, 2004, that initiated the license renewal process. Wilmington has six months to begin "ascertainment," the process by which a cable task force gathers information for the purposes of making a recommendation to the Board of Selectmen and crafting a proposal to submit to the cable provider. Under Massachusetts General Law, the selectmen are the issuing authority for cable licenses.

The six-month period began on April 7, the day on which the town received Comcast's letter.

During a selectmen meeting on Monday, May 10, Assistant Town Manager Jeffrey Hull provided the board with a back story on Wilmington's current license and recommended that a task force be formed to take matters from here.

According to Hull, Wilmington's current cable license is non-exclusive, meaning that an opportunity exists for more than one vendor to service the town. Such an arrangement, however, would not likely be practical as far as expenses are concerned, due to the costs associated with running lines for a cable system.

Nonetheless, Hull reminded the board that approximately two years ago Wilmington contacted the Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) to see if it was interested in providing cable services. At the time, the light department decided against such an endeavor.

Hull stated that he has read in a couple of local newspapers, however, that the newly hired RMLD Commissioner might be interested in offering such a service. According to Hull, some municipal light companies throughout the state do provide cable services to such towns as Shrewsbury and Braintree.

Selectmen Chairman Michael McCoy expressed hopes that RMLD would indeed consider offering cable services to its customers.

"With more competition, obviously, the price comes down," McCoy said. "There's no question about it in a free market."

Hull told the board that it is presumed that Comcast will receive a license renewal, unless Wilmington intends to successfully meet the require-

Federal Emergency Management Agency Aid available for flood victims

By SHAWN P. SULLIVAN

WILMINGTON - Did you suffer any flood damage to your home or business during the heavy rain that fell last month?

On April 22, President George W. Bush declared portions of Massachusetts to be in a state of emergency in the wake of the record-setting rainfall from last month. Such a declaration allows the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to solicit applications from renters, homeowners and business owners who might need loans or grants to help get their property back on track after sustaining flood damage.

Middlesex County, which includes Wilmington and Tewksbury, is one of five counties that has been declared disaster areas.

FEMA representatives have been knocking on the doors of local homes and businesses this week, letting people know that assistance could be made available to them if their property has suffered damages from the floods.

To apply for aid, call 1-800-621-3362 or 1-800-621-FEMA.

Once you call, a FEMA representative on the other line will engage you in a 15-minute interview in which you will be asked about the location of your home, your social security number, the nature of the flood damages, and perhaps some general information about your finances. If proven eligible, FEMA will send you a loan packet.

Don't let that word "loan" make you nervous. Better yet, when you see it on the packet,

Treasurer Cahill returns $400G to local WWII vet

WILMINGTON - State Treasurer Timothy Cahill made a rare trip to Wilmington recently to deliver to resident Marion Abate what was hers.

What did he deliver? A check for $400,000.

That amount was returned to Abate, courtesy of Cahill's Abandoned Property Division.

Cahill brought the check to the Wilmington Town Hall and presented it to Abate's brother, Paul Farrell, who serves as her guardian. Currently, Abate, 83, is recovering at the Woodbriar Nursing Home from a bad fall. "She was entitled to that money, and the state wanted to give it back," Farrell stated.

Abate is a veteran of World War II. During that global conflict, she served in the United States Navy and worked at the Pentagon as a commercial artist who helped draw maps for the Invasion of Normandy.

Cahill set into motion the return of Abate's money when his Abandoned Property Division identified Abate as the owner of several abandoned funds, including savings accounts and matured CDs.

"It is an honor for me to return this money to Marion, and it is my sincere hope that it will make her life more comfortable," Cahill says.

It is estimated that one out of every ten people own abandoned property. According to Massachusetts Abandoned Property Laws, most financial assets that have been inactive for more than three years are declared "abandoned" and turned over to the Commonwealth. It is the responsibility of the Abandoned Property Division of the State Treasury to return this property to its rightful owner.

DON'T BLOW THAT RETIREMENT MONEY NOW

The good news is that many young workers qualify for their company's 401(k) plans. They get the benefit of tax-sheltered contributions and company matches. The bad news is that, when they change jobs, so many just cash out their accounts.

What a waste! Turning a 401(k) into ordinary cash means paying income taxes on the total amount, plus another 10 percent penalty for tapping the account before age 59 1/2. Add to that the loss of future, tax-deferred earnings on the money. You can simply leave the money in the old employer's 401(k) account, but here are some better options:

Roll over the money into an IRA or into the 401(k) of the next employer. You have 60 days to effect the change tax-free. It's smartest to transfer the money directly. An IRA offers the most options; if you open a new, rollover IRA, the total can be rolled over later to another 401(k) or retirement account. Another IRA advantage: first-time homebuyers can beat the penalty on up to $10,000 from the account for a down payment.

Make the most of your retirement savings. We'll show you how at:

From the Editor's Desk

By Shawn P. Sullivan

Lock 'em Up

Have you seen the cop logs in the Town Crier during the past few weeks? There are a whole lot of people out there with cars that have proven treasure troves for the criminals among us.

In the past two weeks, the Wilmington Police Department has logged reports by residents whose vehicles have been burglarized on Shawsheen Avenue, Gloria Way, Cushing Drive, Lucaya Circle, Freeport Drive, and Ledgewood Road. Personal property has also been snatched from cars parked at Ristuccia Rink Arena and St. Dorothy's Church.

Also during the last few weeks, the Tewksbury Police Department has received reports of cars that were burglarized while parked at the VFW on Saint Mary's Road and the Stadium Plaza on Main Street.

Those are quite a few cars. That's quite a few people who now find themselves without their wallet or purse or loose change or, in one instance, a stereo.

This editorial should probably be called "Lock 'em Up, Part 2." It is, after all, a sequel of sorts because the Town Crier wrote about this subject in this column when a similar rash of burglaries plagued both towns a few years ago.

In that piece, I mentioned a friend of mine up in Maine. He's one of those guys who always has bits of trivia, facts and figures on hand, whatever the topic of conversation may be. He's also the director of a driving school who, fairly frequently, likes to state that a locked car is a deterrent to any so-called criminal mastermind who has designs on some of the goods inside a parked vehicle.

This has not stopped my friend from leaving his car unlocked and making fun of me whenever I lock mine during my trips back home. "What do you think this is?" he asks me. "The big city?"

According to Wilmington Deputy Police Chief Robert Spencer, though, my friend's right. A locked car does deter thieves. Most of the burglaries mentioned above concern unlocked vehicles. Unlocked vehicles, it should be added, that nonetheless contained wallets, pocketbooks, you name it.

"Would you leave ten bucks on the corner and expect it to be there in the morning?" Spencer asks those who do not lock their cars.

It makes a lot of racket to smash a side window to get into a car. In the dead of the night, it even makes a lot of noise to use a mangled clothes hanger or a slim jim to jiggle a lock. If a potential thief sidles up to your car and gives its door handle a quick pull, he's likely to keep moving if he's denied immediate and easy entry.

All of this is common sense, really. The message that one should keep his or her car locked at all times seems far too obvious to be considered substantial enough to warrant an editorial. Unfortunately, though, the message has so far fallen on the deaf ears of those who might be forgetful or all too goodhearted to believe that someone would dare steal from their car. Especially while it's parked at a church.

So, on behalf of the local police departments, here are some helpful guidelines.

Take all valuable items from your car back into your home at night. During the day, do not leave your wallet or purse in your vehicle.

Park your car in populated areas that are well lit.

And, of course, lock 'em up.

Such measures really do make the theft of items from cars one of the most easily preventable crimes. And they're the perfect ointment against the recent rash of burglaries that have popped up here and there in the weekly cop logs.

Standing Eight Count

by Stephen Bjork

I just found out some rather alarming news about my parents.

Apparently they have not updated their will in several years. According to their current will, I stand to inherit the Wilmington home that, three years ago, they sold and moved out of.

I know the guy who bought the house; he's a great guy with a nice family and I'd hate to get into a beef with him. I know he's not going to be happy to hear about this but if push comes to shove, what am I expected to do? Abandon my birthright?

Luckily for both me and Tom, my parents are relatively healthy. I've personally invested a significant amount of time and effort into delivering lots of orange juice and multi-vitamins to them since I heard about this rather embarrassing situation.

Aside from their health, they have absolutely no consideration for my concerns, however. They've been flying all over the country, all willy-nilly over mountains and large bodies of water, without the slightest regard to my financial standing. My father, for instance, just got back from Vegas. I have no idea how much of my future money he lost there as he refuses to discuss it with me.

I have been trying to get them to a lawyer to execute a new will, but between my mother's hang-gliding lessons and my father's NASCAR driving schedule I can't seem to get them together long enough. I have yet to find an attorney who will do it for me without their participation either.

Someday, I'll have my revenge. The reading of my will is going to be an all-day affair. I am going to include everyone I've ever met in my will, especially those people that I don't particularly like. Why? Because when people find out they are going to get something from a will, they take the time to go and find out what it is. Their entire day is ruined if they don't come out of the lawyer's office with a sizable wad of cash.

When I kick the bucket there are a whole lot of things that I can bequeath out of spite.

"I, Stephen Bjork, being of sound mind and body, do hereby bequeath all of my recyclables to the telephone company."

I could leave all of the wastebaskets in my house to my friend Jeff.

You have to be strategic about this. You have to throw in something of value here and there or people give up and leave. For instance, maybe I leave all of the postage stamps that I haven't used to my friend Mark. Then I can stipulate that the empty stamp booklet thing, once the stamps are used up by Mark, goes to Al.

I can picture my attorney reading the terms of the will to the excited and boisterous crowd.

"Stephen considered donating his organs to scientific research, but decided instead that Jim should have them."

Pranks are great, especially when perpetrated from the beyond. For instance; at my wake, I will instruct my attorney to provide a completely false address to friends, family, and the newspapers. I'm talking really, really false; like not even a funeral home false. I can picture the confused mourners arriving at what they assume is the Stephen Bjork wake.

"Are you sure you have the address right, honey?" a confused husband will ask.

"Well, this is what the newspaper said."

"I really doubt that they are holding Bjork's wake at a Chuck E. Cheese."

But they won't be totally sure that it is out of the question either so the Chuck E. Cheese staff will be treated to a steady parade of mourners in dark garb stepping in, between the hours of 4pm and 7pm, and congregating over by the Whack A Mole game before leaving in a frustrated huff.

Those who do eventually find my wake, will find me in an open coffin incorrectly with my feet up where my head is supposed to be and I'd be willing to pay an extra fee to have the funeral parlor employees act like it was a big mistake and to publicly, and humiliatingly, blame it on an employee that was drinking on the job.

Who could blame the poor guy, though, since I will demand in my will that I be waked in a casket that contains a built-in keg tap. It will be right there on the side so that people can refill their cups while offering their last respects to me.

Those who actually manage to find my wake will be happy they did.

Denial of amendments a slick maneuver

Just a quick comment on something that happened at the recent Annual Town Meeting in Tewksbury.

Town Meeting is the form of government that we here in Tewksbury have chosen to use. I like the Open Town Meeting form of government. To me, it is the purest form of democracy and town government. Every resident has the opportunity to go to the microphone and have their point of view heard on any issue on the warrant.

I also think that the beauty of residents expressing their point of view is critical to getting all the issues on the table before an article is voted on. You need to have contrary points of views on issues in order to trip the basic function of checks and balances in our government. Debates at Town Meetings are necessary and should be looked at as a positive rather than a negative. Debate should be encouraged, not discouraged.

I do, however, disagree with the Moderator when he allowed the Finance Chairman to make a motion to replace the old Development Agreement with a new Development Agreement at this year's Town Meeting. He then immediately allowed the selectmen to make a motion not to allow amendments to the new Development Agreement. If it is an important enough issue to have residents vote on, then the voters have the basic right to understand what they are voting on, and they should have the ability to make changes where they think it is necessary. This was all planned out, and to me this just wasn't an act of an open Town Meeting process.

This new agreement was a document that many people hadn't received until only hours before Town Meeting. There should have been debate allowed and as a result of that debate, if the people of Tewksbury wanted to make amendments to the article they should have been allowed to do so. There was no public input to this new Development Agreement. There were no public hearings to allow residents to ask questions or to express concerns about this agreement, which is an important part of our Town Meeting process.

In the past, the Moderator has chastised voters many times for asking questions about an article that he felt should have been asked at the public hearing. But this time, without the public hearing process, the Moderator didn't allow voters to ask questions or to express their concerns about the article, which is exactly why we have the public hearing process. If you want people to show up at Town Meeting fully prepared to have debate, you need to have the public hearing process or, if there is no public hearing, then you must allow voters to discuss the merits of an article, which includes making amendments on Town Meeting floor.

It is just a bunch of baloney that it was some sort of legal agreement between the Town and the Mills Corporation. What was the article sponsor going to do, pull out of the agreement with the Town? The Town was finally going to be in a position of strength to negotiate whatever the townspeople wanted to see in that agreement. Is there something wrong with being in a position of strength in negotiations, especially when you're negotiating with a billion-dollar company on an issue that will change your Town forever?

I think that the Moderator has set a bad precedent by accepting a motion that does not allow amendments to be made to an article. Picture this scenario. What happens if classroom size gets out of control and we have 35 kids in a classroom? A group of parents gets together, comes to Town Meeting and supports an article that allows for the hiring of more teachers with an established dollar amount for the hiring of these teachers. What happens if they are the majority of voters in the hall? The first person walks to the microphone, and makes a motion not to allow amendments to this article. We all know that this will have major financial consequences to the Town's finances. What then? The majority wins, and now the Town's financial people are stuck with an unbalanced budget and are forced to make cuts in other areas.

I just hope we haven't opened up a Pandora's Box because of this type of slick maneuver of not allowing amendments to Town Meeting articles.

Kevin Anderson once served multiple terms on the Tewksbury Board of Selectmen. He now comments about Tewksbury issues in a column for the Town Crier.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks for making Sullivan's blood drive a success

Dear Editor:

We are writing to you today on behalf of our family to publicly express our gratitude for the overwhelming turnout at the blood drive that we sponsored last Tuesday, May 4th at the Methodist Church in Wilmington.

In December, our father, Kevin Sullivan, was hospitalized with a blood disorder that required he be transfused with many units of blood. While he was receiving these transfusions, we did not think about the blood itself or whom it came from, rather that it was saving his life. At that point that was all that mattered.

In hindsight, we looked back and felt both thankful and blessed that people had taken the time to donate the blood that saved him. Without that generous gift we don't know what the outcome would have been.

In return for this gift, we thought it fitting to replenish the units that were given to him. We called the American Red Cross and began the process of a setting up a Blood Drive. We contacted family and friends and the response we received was overwhelming. We were thrilled with the efforts of the blood donors and the volunteers as well. It was an incredible experience.

It is difficult to put into words what it felt like that evening to see the flow of family, friend and even strangers walk into the Methodist Church, roll up their sleeve, and donate without hesitation. We were grateful to those that drove minutes and those that drove for hours. Many people waited hours to donate and we were impressed with their good humor, patience, and dedication to such a worthy cause.

The American Red Cross was delighted with the results of our blood drive. We are proud to have collected over 90 units of blood for the Red Cross. In addition we were excited to be able to add 32 first time donors to the roles of those that gave another birthday, gave another anniversary, or gave another chance to someone just like our dad.

It is heartwarming and inspirational to live in a community that would come together and contribute in such a generous way.

For all those that donated, volunteered, as well as the community that supported us, we are profoundly grateful,

Nancy Sullivan

Letters to the Editor

Please stop stealing from cemetery

Dear Editor:
We want to let whoever is stealing flowers and other items placed on graves at the Wildwood Cemetery to know what a heartbreaking thing it is to find things placed on a loved one grave in love and memory taken.

It is very hurtful and upsetting. It is hard to deal with the loss of a child, sibling, mother, father, relative or friend and to have someone take something that has been placed at the cemetery in love is heart-wrenching.

Put yourself in our shoes and try to deal with a loss as great as ours and see how it feels. Please think before stealing from us again.

Leave the name-calling to the second graders

Dear Editor:
In a recent column for the Town Crier, I gave my interpretation of the results of the recent Tewksbury Town Election. A Tewksbury selectman responded to my opinion with a Letter to the Editor.

Don't you just hate it when a politician writes a letter to show you how smart they are, and why their point of view is right and yours is wrong? To add insult to injury, they also then have to call the writer a childish name, too.

Usually, I just let this type of thing roll off my back but I just had to respond to Selectman Jerry Sellisen because of the name-calling and some inaccuracies in his letter.

I was an elected official for 12 years. I know that sometimes elected officials think that they are smarter than the average person, that they know more about an issue than everyone else, but in my 12 years, I never thought of calling someone a childish name because I disagreed with their opinion. Is this what the new elected officials have become?

Does Jerry do this name calling at work, too? I'm sure that would go a long way in the work place. So why say that sort of thing to someone that you represent?

Also Jerry, when I went running by your house, your sidewalk sign wasn't up on your yard yet. The "Yes to the Mall" sign was. So why did you complain about my not writing about the sidewalk sign? The sidewalk sign wasn't there. You know it, your neighbors know it, so why discredit yourself by making up a story? Let's hope this isn't the beginning of a trend of you making things up just to support your positions.

I don't have a problem with selectmen taking a stand. I'm not one to say that selectmen should stay neutral. But Jerry, you said in your Letter to the Editor that you would always let the people of Tewksbury know where you stand on the issues. Well, I went through a lot of the Mills Corp. meeting minutes, some approved selectmen meeting minutes, read some newspaper articles, I talked to people who attended most, if not all, of the Mills meetings, and I can't find anywhere that you were quoted as a supporter of the Mills project. Was your lawn sign your way of telling the people of Tewksbury that you supported the mall? Do you think that a lawn sign, on a cul-de-sac, off Bradford Street that is off of Vale Street, which is off of Shawsheen Street, was your way of telling the residents of Tewksbury your stand, or did you just get caught doing something you didn't want many of the residents of Tewksbury to know?

The Town Crier encourages its readers to respond to articles and columns written and to express their opinions and views, but please, let's keep the name calling to the second graders. Keep the Letters to the Editor coming. We want to hear your opinion and views.

Bracing for the mall

Dear Editor:
It was always a long shot, but I truly hoped that fellow residents of Tewksbury would stand together and tell Mills that a Mall in South Tewksbury wouldn't be welcome.

I'm not just off the turnip truck, however, so I was also prepared for the worst case scenario if Mills did get the zoning change they wanted. I tend to be a worrier but I also think of myself as an optimist. I know that it'll be a long process to get the Federal and State approvals for the ring road interchange and that there will be requirements made by both if they do give the project the go-ahead. Perhaps they'll say NO.

I anticipate construction beginning the day approval arrives and since Mills never said that they wouldn't access the "construction site" off South Street, I can already see, hear and smell and feel the construction vehicles passing a couple hundred feet from my house (perhaps less if the town does a land taking to make South Street wider for emergency vehicles), not to mention the traffic generated by all the construction workers needed at the site.

On the positive side, my youngest son loves construction vehicles and he'll be thrilled to have a virtual parade to watch. I'll cancel my kids paper route so they won't have to deal with traffic on South Street as they deliver. I have to admit, I'm tired of being tied down with the paper route, so while they will miss the money, it'll be nice to have some freedom.

We'll have talks about standing well back from South Street while they wait for the school bus so a construction or emergency vehicle won't hit them. I think they'll be much more savvy about traffic if they ever move to a city.

Now that I've written that, I realize they're not even going to have to move to be living in a city. I anticipate that no interchange or Ring Road will be approved without local access being mandated. I see an access road available at South Street and maybe even Shawsheen Street. I've heard that Andover can actually open the road to South Street without Tewksbury's permission. As much as I dread South Street being open, I'll probably use it when I shoot up to Salem, NH to knock another 5 or 6 minute off my trip north. Of course, that would only save time between midnight and 5 a.m. since a destination mall brings lots of traffic and in my experience traffic jams move really slow. A good thing about going really slow is that if you do get into an accident with all the extra traffic, damage is not nearly as bad. No one is going to be happy paying a surcharge on top of the increased auto insurance premiums the mall will bring. I don't want to even think about trying to cross Salem Road at South Street. These days I get across Salem by taking right hand turns so I don't have to get across both lanes in one shot. With an anticipated 2,000 emergency calls per year to the mall site, I have a pretty good chance of arriving at that intersection at the same time as an emergency vehicle. Maybe I can slip across while they have the traffic stopped. When I need to get to the Lowell side of Tewksbury, I'll have to make sure to add 30 minutes onto the 30 it already takes to travel Route 38 during "peak" times. As parents know, some of our best conversations with our kids happen when they're trapped in a car with us. It gives us a chance to have talks with them that may not be possible when they are able to avoid us at home. I think it will make us even closer.

I know our town officials can keep a promise because when virtually every person under 60 had left the building at the end of 3 grueling votes and they probably would have liked to have headed home too, they skipped to article 23 and voted on additional funds for the designing of the Senior Center building addition. Mills made a lot of promises and our town officials need to ensure every one is met. If my worst case scenarios don't come to pass, I promise I'll be first in line at the Senior Center grand opening to thank our town officials in person.

WATER DAMAGE

It may interest homeowners to know that their homes are more likely to sustain water damage from leaky appliances within their houses than from storms and floods. Bursting pipes and worn hoses attached to washing machines, water heaters, and heating systems all provide opportunities for water to escape into the home. With this in mind, it pays for homeowners to know that most homeowners policies cover damage to homes caused by a "sudden and accidental" water event, such as burst pipes, wind driven rain, or melting snow that seeps into the home. On the other hand, water damage caused by poor home maintenance (over-filled gutters, lack of roof maintenance, ignored leaks, etc.) is generally not covered.

If you have questions about your home insurance, we invite you to call for more information. We can provide complete insurance protection for your house, including damage caused by a "sudden and accidental" water event. We work on your side when you have a loss and follow through to see that you get treated personally, fair, and quickly. Call us at 978-657-7200 and let's talk insurance. You'll Like the Way We do Business.™

NOTE: Everyone in your home should know how to shut off the water supply in the house in an emergency situation.

Foster parents are needed

Dear Editor:
Recently I asked many of my constituents to guess how many children in Massachusetts are in foster care because their families do not have the resources or capacity to provide safe, stable living conditions. Most guessed in the hundreds.

The truth is that over 11,000 children are in foster care in Massachusetts.

If there is a single human service issue that deserves our attention and advocacy, it is finding better ways to meet the physical, mental, and social needs of children in state custody. These children deserve more of us.

As Chair of the Human Services Committee, I recently held a regional forum on the foster care system. In attendance were foster parents and children as well as advocates and social workers, inside and outside the state child welfare system. They shared their experiences and ideas for improving outcomes for foster children. Despite the best efforts of many good people, the statistics reveal dismal and expensive performance measures when foster children "age-out" of the system at age 18: 30 percent of the boys in foster care end up in prison; 50 percent of the girls have babies out of wedlock; and nearly one-third of our homeless population grow up in foster homes.

The economic and human case for reform is compelling. We need more foster parents and they need more support from schools, non-profit agencies, employers, and medical/mental health professionals. Study after study has shown that quality, stable foster homes backed up by community intervention and prevention programs can reverse these outcomes for foster kids. May has been declared National Foster Care month in the hope of calling attention to the dire need for more caring adults to play a more meaningful role in the lives of the state's foster children. More funding is on the way for recruitment, support and services provided by foster parents.

Recognizing the important role of foster parents is a small but important step in improving the lives of these children. If you are interested in learning more about becoming a foster parent, please call 1-800-KIDS-508.

Sincerely,

Sue Tucker
State Senator

Master Plan Committee

Final forum will discuss affordable housing plan

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington Master Plan Committee is holding a final public forum on May 27, 2004 from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. in the Town Hall Auditorium to discuss the draft Affordable Housing Plan prepared over the past several months. The first public forum was held in November 2003.

What is purpose of the Affordable Housing Plan?

The purpose of the Plan is to determine the housing needs of Wilmington residents and develop strategies to create more affordable housing and housing choice to meet these needs. With outside pressure from developers, the Affordable Housing Plan is to help the Town be more proactive about what kind of affordable housing it wants and where it should be located. Approval of this plan by the Massachusetts Department of Housing & Community Development and implementation of the Plan would enable the Town to have more control over 40B projects.

The Draft Plan includes a discussion of housing needs, housing costs and the affordability "gap" and short and long-term recommendations. The Committee has been working with McGregor & Associates on preparation of the plan. The project is funded through the EO418 Community Development Plan Program.

How can Wilmington best meet the housing needs of its residents from young adults to seniors? Where should higher density housing be located? Recommendations include the following:

1. Enact and Inclusionary Zoning Bylaw- Inclusionary zoning is a technique which requires developers to provide affordable units when they are creating market rate units. A growing number of communities in Massachusetts have turned to this zoning tool as a way to increase the affordable housing stock. The recommendation proposes that at least 15% of any housing development of 8 units or more would be affordable to low and moderate-income residents. There would be a density bonus for developments that create additional affordable units in excess of the minimum required.

2. Offer density bonuses for housing as part of "adaptive reuse" of vacant or underutilized structures in accordance with the proposed inclusionary bylaw provision.

3. Amend the accessory apartment bylaw to allow accessory apartments in new homes provided the apartment is affordable. Allow three-bedroom apartments on lots in excess of 30,000 square feet by special permit.

4. Create mixed-use overlay districts in the following areas that would allow higher density housing:

- A) The Light Industrial/Office District, adjacent to the Central Business District in the Town Center, which includes the former Sweetheart Plastics and Diamond Crystal properties.

- B) Main and Lowell/South Main - the general Business and LI/O area from Butters Row and Cross Street up to Kirk Street.

- C) North Wilmington- the areas currently zoned General Business and General Industrial, and specifically excluding the Whitefield School site.

- D) Perry's Corner (Woburn and Lowell Streets)

5. Build affordable housing on Town-owned land

6. Create a Community Development Corporation

7. Conduct a public outreach and education

8. Continue discussions regarding the Community Preservation Act (CPA)

Why should you attend? The Master Plan Committee wants as much input as possible. Come be a part of planning for Wilmington's future and future generations. All residents are encouraged to attend and comment on the proposed recommendations before the plan is finalized. The deadline for completion of the plan is June 30, 2004.

Ribbons will be awarded to all participants, with one work judged "Best of Show" from each building. Up to six "Honorable Mention" awards may be awarded by each of our art specialists. A "Best of Show" ribbon will be awarded to each of the seven schools in the system. This piece will be framed and placed on permanent display at the appropriate school.

Awards will be made in the following categories: pottery, photography, pen and ink, painting, pastels, pencil, assemblage, sculpture, graphics, calligraphy, marker, mixed media, crayons, and tech media.

Again, this year, a musical presentation will be held in conjunction with the Art Exhibit. On Friday, May 14:

- 6:30 p.m.: TPS musicians, under the direction of Ms. Hilary Anderson, will make a public presentation in the High School Auditorium.

- 7:00 p.m.: the "Heath Brook Songsters" will make their musical debut, under the direction of Mr. Michael Milner.

All parents and members of the Tewksbury community are invited to attend the performances and the exhibit. It is the annual showcase for the many talented students throughout the district, and we expect this exhibit to match or exceed the high standards set by previous exhibits.

Featured speakers will include members of the Nursing Department and visiting nursing research scholar Nancy Bittner, PhD, RN, CCRN, from Regis College. The "Celebrating Nursing at Lahey Clinic 1923-2004" celebration will offer an opportunity to recognize the accomplishments and achievements of the Lahey Clinic Nursing Staff.

This special week also marks the kick-off of Lahey's journey toward Magnet recognition. The Magnet Recognition Program was developed by the American Nurses Credentialing Center in 1994 to recognize health care organizations that provide the very best in nursing care and support professional nursing practice.

For more information about Nurses' Week at Lahey Clinic, please contact Rose Lewis at 781-744-5440 or rose.a.lewis@lahey.org.

Welcome a foreign exchange student into your home

ASSE International Student Exchange Programs is currently seeking local families interested in hosting a high school foreign exchange student for the 2004/2005 school year. The students are between 15 and 18 years old, are well screened and speak English. Each student is very anxious to learn about our country by living as part of an American Family and attending the local high school. Students come from the Scandinavian countries, Germany, Italy, France, Brazil, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, Poland, Japan, the Czech and Slovak Republics and the former Soviet Union.

The students are carefully screened in their home countries. Interested families have the opportunity to select the student of their choice from extensive student applications, family photos and biographical essays. The students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins and return at the end of the school year. Each ASSE exchange student is fully insured, brings his or her personal spending money, and shares in the household responsibilities.

If you are interested in sharing this wonderful opportunity as a host family please call your local area representative Joyce McKenney at (207) 737-4666 or (800) 677-2773. Please check our website at www.asse.com.

Selectmen will present counsel with split contract

ing an appointment, but he advised his colleagues to make an appointment contingent on the acceptance of a contract.

According to McCoy, DeRensis has not formally replied to the letter announcing the board's intention to implement a monetary cap for Fiscal Year 2005. The letter had asked DeRensis to reply within 24 hours as to whether he had any objection to such a condition to re-appointment.

McCoy did say he spoke with DeRensis on the telephone. McCoy told the board that DeRensis did not appear to be amenable to a monetary cap.

"He was interested in a cap at an amount that I wasn't happy with," McCoy said. "I won't say what the amount was, but..."

Selectman Raymond Lepore made it known that he was not prepared to appoint a town counsel since the board has not yet received an official reply from DeRensis.

"It's certainly after 24 hours," Lepore said. "We have a guy who doesn't know if he wants his job or not. It is two weeks later, and we still don't have a reply, and we're arguing about whether he is going to accept the job or isn't he and what to offer him."

Lepore advised his colleagues to get a contract to DeRensis and to expect an answer the next time he comes before the board.

Balliro suggested that settling the contract could be done in very little time, especially since Sullivan is in possession of the draft of a letter that could be appropriately adjusted and forwarded to DeRensis.

"If the board gives a little direction about how to tweak it, we could fax it to him tomorrow," Balliro said. "I'm sure that he could get back to us within a day. We may be able to get this contract done in four days."

A motion was made for the subcommittee to draft a contract with a fixed flat rate, similar to billing practices that was once the usual for the town. The motion failed in a 4 to 1 vote, with Lepore alone in his support for the measure.

A motion was made for the subcommittee to draft a contract with an hourly bill rate to be capped at a specific dollar figure. The motion failed in a 3 to 2 vote, with McCoy and

Newhouse in the minority.

The board finally agreed to have the subcommittee draft a split contract, similar to the current one, with a retainer representing the core of the billing, along with hourly billing up to a specified monetary cap. The motion carried by a vote of 4 to 1, with McCoy as the lone opposition.

Task force appointed to begin talks for cable license

ments of a litmus test for justifying a denial. A denial is considered justified if it is proven that the cable provider is not substantially complying with its existing license; is not offering a reasonable quality of service, in terms of cable signals, handling complaints and billing practices; is lacking the financial, legal or technological abilities to provide services, facilities or equipment that is described in the town's proposal; or cannot meet the future needs or interests of the town.

There are very few communities that have successfully denied the renewal of a license to a cable provider, according to Hull.

"The process is very much weighted in favor of the cable provider," Hull told the board. "Our challenge is essentially to get the best arrangement or deal we can, given the circumstances."

On Monday night, the board honored Hull's request and appointed a Cable Television Task Force. The task force will first meet with a representative from the Cable Commission who will provide an overview of the process. The force will then commence "ascertainment," essentially gathering information through surveys and public hearings and other means and articulating such data in a Request For Proposal (RFP).

The RFP, which outlines the terms and conditions of a proposed license, can only be submitted to the town's cable provider, which, of course, is Comcast. Once Comcast responds, the task force will engage in a four-month process in which the town will negotiate the terms and conditions of a new license with the provider's representatives.

Once those negotiations are completed, the task force will present a draft proposal and make a recommendation to the Board of Selectmen.

If the selectmen grant

Comcast a new license, then the board and the cable company will sign the license and file it with the Cable Commission.

If the selectmen deny Comcast a new license, then they must issue a Notice of Denial to Comcast and send a copy of it to the Cable Commission. Comcast would then have 30 days to appeal the denial to the commission and 120 days to do so with Superior Court.

Cable services are governed by the Federal Communications Commission under the federal government and the Department of Telecommunications and Energy on the state level. Federal law allows the state cable commission to regulate basic services, but all other services are not subject to regulations. Such an arrangement explains why the Boards of Selectmen in communities can't take action in regard to a cable provider's rates or programming.

Aid available for flood victims

don't toss it in the trash, resigned to the fact that you cannot afford to pay back any loans. It is worth your time to fill out the packet and return it to FEMA, for you may be eligible to receive grant money.

At press time, FEMA has received 1,085 applications for flood assistance from residents, renters or business owners throughout the five affected counties. As many as 334 of those applications derive from here in Middlesex County. As of Tuesday, FEMA has awarded approximately $1.4 million in grant money to those in need.

"So far, 86 percent of the applicants that we have heard from have been eligible for assistance," says Charlie Henderson, a FEMA Public Information Officer. "That is quite high."

Once your loan packet is received, FEMA will alert the Small Business Administration, its sister organization. Representatives from the SBA will then likely contact you to further the process to secure your assistance.

Again, don't let the "business" in Small Business Administration deter you. As a homeowner, you are as eligible as a business owner if your house sustained flood damage last month. Eighty percent of all SBA disaster assistance is currently made to homeowners.

The SBA is the federal government's primary resource for long-term disaster recovery finances. Through its disaster loan program, the SBA provides affordable, timely and accessible assistance to homeowners, renters and business owners after declared disasters.

According to State Coordinating Officer Christine McCombs, loan amounts will be based on the actual cost of repairing a resident's damaged home and personal property, minus any insurance settlements or other reimbursements or grants.

"Individuals who do not qualify for SBA loans may be referred to other available disaster aid programs," says Federal Coordinating Officer James N. Russo. "This includes grants to help pay for temporary housing, home repairs and other serious disaster-related expenses."

Currently, the loan limit for a homeowner is $200,000 to repair or rebuild a primary residence to its predisaster condition. Homeowners and renters can also be limited up to $40,000 to replace personal property, such as clothing, furniture and cars that have been damaged by flooding. For business and nonprofit groups, a limit of $1.5 million is available to repair or replace damaged facilities, business contents and working capitals.

"All recovery begins the same way," Henderson says. "You pick up the phone and call 1-800-621-3362."

Parent alleges Sick School Syndrome

tial oral report by Holmes did not indicate any obvious problems.

According to summation of Holmes' preliminary findings, "Overall, there were no glaring issues and nothing that jumped out as needing immediate attention."

Nonetheless, Arsenault's child is very ill and, according to her physician, all indicators point to the North Intermediate School.

"Isn't one child at a school too many?" Arsenault demanded of Town Manager Michael Caira during the selectmen meeting on Monday night.

"One child anywhere is too many," Caira agreed.

Caira stated, however, that when only a single child is involved, it could indicate a specific intolerance level particular to that child. Caira indicated that efforts were made by medical professionals to review all of the child's environments to assess the entire situation, but that they had not been allowed to do so. According to Arsenault, her home is not the issue and has in fact been identified by her daughter's physician as a safe zone.

"After being out of that school for seven weeks, as of today, she is 75 percent better," Arsenault stated about her daughter. "Is the board willing to help me bring people in to get the soil (at the school) checked and help find out what made my daughter sick?"

Arsenault wanted to know why the North Intermediate School had been built on a tannery dumpsite, but Caira stated that the tannery in question was located on Middlesex Avenue in the area now occupied by Dinette World.

Arsenault informed Caira that tannery waste was dumped on the site of the North Intermediate School. She found it suspicious that Caira would not be aware of that. She wanted to know why a school would be built on that site.

Caira informed her that the school was built in the 1960's. He stated that he wasn't aware of why the site was chosen for the school.

"I'd love to tell you that I'll take responsibility for that decision, but I don't," said Caira. "What I will take responsibility for is continuing to look at the problem."

After Monday's meeting, Caira stated that the topic is one that deserves attention and needs to be carefully discussed.

"Had I been notified in advance, I would have invited the Superintendent of Schools, the Director of Public Health, the Public Health Nurse, and the Superintendent of Public Buildings (to the meeting)," Caira said. "Not to enter into any sort of debate, but to have the right person present to answer whether certain things had been done and to address her concerns appropriately."

McCoy suggested to Arsenault that she call Caira to arrange a meeting with him. Selectwoman Suzanne Sullivan offered to attend the meeting as well.

"This needs to be a priority, and I think it is important for the Board of Selectmen to know that there is possibly an issue at that school," Sullivan said. "I'm not saying that there is an issue, and I'm not saying that there isn't an issue, but I think that there is more than one child that has issues at that school."

Sullivan stated after the meeting that she has been involved with helping Arsenault for several months and that a wider range of testing needs to be done at the site of the North Intermediate School.

Sullivan stated that she did know prior to Monday night that Arsenault would be present at the meeting and would raise the issue. She said that she did not find out until the 11th hour and did not have enough time to instruct Caira to be prepared with adequate answers for Arsenault's questions.

Arsenault asserted that her child is not the only one exhibiting symptoms. She noted that another child was just recently removed from the school.

McAlduff states that he is aware of one other student who left the school.

"We will continue to take all appropriate measures to aggressively address the situation," McAlduff said.

Similar complaints have surfaced in regard to the North Intermediate School over the years. During Monday's meeting, resident Marilyn Cox castigated the board for allowing the system to make these people feel that they are alone.

"Anybody who knows me knows that I've been investigating that stinking school for years," Cox shouted. "They say you're the only one; it's only your kid. They've done that for years and years and years. They did it to my daughter, to people before me, and we've gone through this too many years."

Cox told the selectmen that all of her grandchildren have exhibited symptoms and that one of them even contracted cancer.

"The one there now comes home with headaches, nausea, red face, and lethargic," Cox said.

Arsenault's breaking point was the day her daughter asked her if she was dying.

"How can you let this go?" Arsenault asked the board. "This is my child. I don't care if she is the only one at that school; that is the environment that is making her sick. My daughter is not going to die and she is not going to get cancer and she will never set foot back into that building again."

Research indicates that from at least 1915 to the mid 1950s, Harriman's Tannery was located on Middlesex Avenue on the site presently occupied by Dinette World and covered the area now known as Waltham Street.

Caleb Harriman, the owner of the tannery, resided in the home still standing at the intersection of Middlesex Avenue and Salem Street. His property included most of the land between his home and the railroad tracks and it was his practice to import the chicken manure used in the "retting" process for fertilizer.

Reports indicate that when work began on the Signore development, which included Arlene Avenue, Catherine Avenue, and Dorothy Avenue, the top level of loam was nearly 5 feet thick and much of it was trucked out and sold off.

Also according to reports, part of the property on which the North Intermediate School exists once served as the site of the North School, a one-room school house similar to the West School still standing on Shawsheen Avenue. The North School existed during the 1800's and remained into the 1960's. That specific area seems not to have been part of the Harriman property.

Wilmington High senior pitcher Jackee Joyce warms up in the on deck circle displaying her well designed helmet, with her name on the back of it. Joyce has given up one earned run this season, while she has led the 'Cats to a 9-1 record thus far.

Softball team makes it nine wins in a row

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Two streaks continued, and one streak came to a halt.

This past week the Wilmington High girls softball team defeated North Reading and Masconomet to make it nine wins in a row and improve to 9-1 on the season.

On Monday, Masco scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning which ended the 61 consecutive scoreless innings the team has had over the past four weeks. However, the two runs were unearned and pitcher Jackee Joyce has now gone 62 innings without allowing an earned run.

While Joyce has tossed up her share of zeros over the season, she did that again this past week as well as registering her share of K's. On Thursday, Wilmington defeated North Reading, 1-0, as Joyce tossed a one-hit shutout while she walked one and struck out 16 batters.

On Monday, Wilmington handed Masco a 7-2 defeat and Joyce again gave up one hit, walked two and struck out 16. In those two games, she tossed 4 innings, gave up two hits, three walks, struck out 32 and gave up two unearned runs.

For the season, Joyce is now 1-1 tossing 67 innings, giving up earned run, while striking out 28 batters. She currently has a microscopic ERA of 0.10. Before Monday's game she ranked third in all of Eastern Mass in ERA, trailing Shawsheen Tech's Jenn Elwell and New Bedford's Chelsea Sylvia, who both have not given up an earned run all season.

"It's pretty good because we've faced some pretty good opponents," said coach Bob Surran.

Joyce improved to 7-0 against North Reading, her former school which she transferred from after her freshman year. She gave up a harmless two out single in the top of the seventh to erase her no-hitter, but was in complete command from her first to last pitch. She walked one while another runner reached on an error in the fourth inning, but she retired the first 11 batters to face her and all but one of the final 10 to face her, including sending 16 of those batters back to the bench via strikeout.

Wilmington scored its only run of the game in the bottom of the first inning. After Lauren Rappoli got hit by a pitch with two outs and the bases empty, she stole second with a great slide to the outside of the bag despite the ball clearly beating her to the base. Shannon Fahey followed with a single to center field scoring Rappoli with the lone run of the game.

breaking the game open with four more runs in the fifth on RBI hits from Katie Martell, Rappoli and Julie Martell. Katie Martell finished with a terrific 4-for-4 afternoon with two doubles and two singles.

"We brought in a new bat and once it came out of the box, she said 'I'm going to start to hit Wilmington High senior Shannon Fahey takes off to first while losing her helmet after making contact with a pitch during a recent softball game.

"I give (North Reading pitcher Danielle) Lajoie a lot of credit," said Surran. "The first inning we were hitting her pretty good but after that she moved the ball a lot, changed speeds and really made good adjustments against us. We hit her pretty good scoring six runs the first time we faced them, but she really kept us off balance after the first inning."

Against Masco, Wilmington scored two runs in the first on RBI singles by Jackee Joyce and Rappoli. The Wildcats added one in the second before with this' and she did," said Surran. "She had several really nice hits. We didn't strike out at all and everyone has been pounding the ball."

Rappoli and Joyce also had two hits each.

Wilmington faces Hamilton-Wenham on the road on Thursday before coming home Monday afternoon for a big contest with Amesbury, who is currently undefeated which included thrashing Wilmington in the team's first game of the season, 7-0.

batters she faced in the victory. The 18 K's was a career high for Elwell in a seven inning game.

The perfect game was only the latest in what has been an amazing senior season for Elwell. In 79 1/3 innings, she has allowed only one earned run for an ERA of 0.09. She has allowed only 18 hits and four walks while striking out 144 batters.

Godding gets his revenge

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Pacing around in the dugout before the game, senior Shawn Godding told his coaches how good he felt. He said all of his pitches were working while warming up in the bullpen. As he finished that sentence, he couldn't help but get excited about his opponent: Pentucket.

Godding had a personal vendetta against Pentucket, the same team who defeated the high school football team in each of the past four years, taking several Super Bowl appearances away from Godding and the rest of the team. The left-hander, who only tossed five previous innings this season, wasn't kidding when he said how good he felt. He tossed a complete game, and truly showed a lot of grit as he helped Wilmington come away with a huge 3-2 victory at Scanlon Memorial Field on Tuesday afternoon.

Godding went the distance giving up eight hits while he walked six and struck out seven. While he had runners on base throughout the entire game, time after time Godding came through with a clutch pitch or a clutch out.

"This was redemption," said Godding. "It was the last time I would ever face Pentucket in any sport. I was trying so hard not to get my hopes up too high. Pentucket is a good team, and they are pretty tricky over there. They came back on us the last time we faced them and I didn't want that to happen again."

Head coach Aldo Caira knew that he desperately needed a senior on his team to step up and deliver a clutch performance since the win brings the team to 6-6 overall with 8 games left to get four wins to qualify for the state tournament for the first time in the past three years.

"This is a huge win," said Caira. "Boy I give Shawn a lot of credit. We asked him before the game how he felt and he said that if we needed him to throw 35 innings today that he would throw 35 innings. He was ready. Throughout the game (assistant coach Tim Creamer and I) kept looking at each other and were like OK one more batter and he's out by Shawn kept grinding it out and getting big outs. Absolutely no question about it we needed someone to step up and Shawn did. The kid would run through a brickwall for you if you asked him too."

Wilmington came up with all three of its runs in the bottom of the first inning. The 'Cats started the inning off with four singles. Godding singled hard to right, and then stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. Sean Murphy laced a single to left center to score Godding. Robbie Gillis singled to right on a perfectly executed hit and run play moving Murphy to third. Jon Stark followed with a 326-foot single off the right field fence. Gillis went back to tag up, but only advanced to second after the ball went off the wall. That scored Murphy making it 2-0. Two outs later with the runners at the corners, sophomore Jeff Youngclaus - who is going to be a terrific player by the time he graduates - alertly got himself in a run down on a delay double steal attempt giving Stark enough time to score from third.

Thereafter Wilmington's bats went silent. Over the last five innings they managed just one hit, and three base runners as two others reached on errors. Meanwhile Godding was doing the job at the other end. He got out of jams in each of the first two innings before Pentucket touched him up for two runs on three hits in the third inning cutting it to 3-2. But over the last four innings, Godding tossed shut out ball, mixing it in his curveball very well, especially on two strikes. He got some defensive help with a nicely turned double play by Bobby Sinopoli in the fifth, as well as a difficult grab in foul ground with one out and a runner at first by Youngclaus in the top of the seventh.

"The heat was getting to me," said Godding. "My velocity was slipping a bit so that's why I was going to the curve more, but I was getting stronger with the curveball as the game went on so that's why I went to it more. But the defense came up huge today - (those two plays by Sinopoli and Youngclaus) were nice - very nice."

Earlier in the week Wilmington was blanked by North Reading, 6-0 as the 'Cats managed just one hit. On Saturday they pounded Ipswich, 13-1, as Kenny Luongo smashed his fourth home run of the season.

The Wilmington High baseball team improved to 6-6 on the season with a dramatic win on Tuesday against Pentucket. Third baseman Jeff Youngclaus, shown here making a play during an earlier game this season, came up huge with a big put out in the seventh inning.

Elwell tosses another gem for Rams

Tewksbury native Jenn Elwell continued her remarkable season and career at Shawsheen Tech on Monday afternoon, pitching a perfect game against Lynn Tech in a 13-0 road victory for the Lady Rams.

The win was the third perfect game of Elwell's career and third no hitter of the season. It was also Elwell's 10th no-hitter of her career. The win also improved her record on the season to 9-2.

Elwell struck out 18 of the 21

batters she faced in the victory. The 18 K's was a career high for Elwell in a seven inning game.

The perfect game was only the latest in what has been an amazing senior season for Elwell. In 79 1/3 innings, she has allowed only one earned run for an ERA of 0.09. She has allowed only 18 hits and four walks while striking out 144 batters.

Boys tennis team has an uphill climb

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

It was somewhat of a rough seven days for the Wilmington High boys tennis team last week. The Wildcats went 1-2 on the week, with both of their losses coming by scores of 3-2. The 1-2 mark for the week left the Wildcats with a 4-6 overall record and facing somewhat of an uphill climb if they hope to achieve a .500 record and qualify for the state tournament.

Things started very well for the Wildcats last Tuesday afternoon when they earned an impressive 3-2 win over Newburyport. At the time, the win evened their record at 4-4 and things were looking up for the Wildcats, who had won two straight matches at that point.

"The Newburyport win was real nice at the time, because they are always a very tough team and they were very tough on us last year," said coach Matt Hackett. "It really gave us a boost as far as the state tournament as concerned at the time, and also we are playing them later in the year so it was a nice confidence builder for us."

But things quickly turned against the Wildcats in their next match, on Wednesday against Pentucket. Once again the team gave an outstanding effort, but this time they found themselves on the opposite end of the 3-2 final.

Winners for the Wildcats in the match were first singles Derek Trueira in first singles by a score of 6-0, 7-5 and Chris Ng in third singles by a score of 6-6, 6-2. Trueira has been outstanding all season and in years past for the Wildcats, but Ng has really come on as of late.

"Chris is getting more confidence and that is making him just play that much better," Hackett said. "He came up to me at the start of the season and was wondering what to do to be a success, and I told him just play your game and have confidence in yourself. He is doing that and it is paying off."

Second singles Lou Auciello lost a tough match by a score of 7-5, 6-0, struggling to bounce back after a very emotional first set loss, while the first doubles team of Brandon Kelly and Dan Chalmers dropped a 6-3, 6-4 decision and the second double team of Brian Garrett and Joe Costello fell by a score of 6-4, 6-0.

Any loss is hard to take, but this one hit Hackett and the Wildcats especially hard.

"The Pentucket loss was particularly tough to swallow because we played well, but we just went up against a strong team," Hackett said. "The kids gave it their best."

The next day the Wildcats suffered an equally frustrating loss to North Reading. Earlier this season, the Wildcats lost to North Reading by a score of 5-0 in a match where they did not play very well, and they had been pointing to this rematch as a chance at redemption. They may not have gotten it on the scoreboard, but Hackett saw it in the way they played.

"We were very close," Hackett said. "It was a very tough match and it could have gone either way, but I was very proud of how the kids played."

Winners for the Wildcats were Trueira by a score of 7-6 (7-3), 6-3, along with Garrett and Costello in second doubles by a score of 6-4, 6-4. Hackett was very pleased to see his doubles team come away with the win.

"I was really happy for those guys because it was their first big win of the year," Hackett said. "They played good, solid, fundamental doubles tennis. I was happy to see them pull out that second set and avoid a third."

Trueira's win may have been his most impressive of the regular season. Taking on Matt Finn, one of the top players in the Cape Ann League, Trueira came up with a huge effort to earn the win. He had battled Finn very hard the last time the two teams met, but the UConn bound Finn had pulled out the win. This time it was Trueira who came out on top.

"That was a real nice win for Derek," Hackett said. "Finn is one of the best kids I have seen, but I have seen Derek really step things since his first match with him. Derek was very proud of himself and he deserved to be."

And Hackett is very proud of his entire team. Although qualifying for the tournament may be more difficult now, it does not diminish Hackett's thoughts of his team in any way.

"As much as the ultimate goal is to win, as it should be, our other goal is to have fun and improve," Hackett said. "And that is definitely something I am seeing. You have to focus on wins, but the other things are very important as well. I don't want the kids to forget that."

Trueira advances to Sweet 16

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The legend of Derek Trueira at Wilmington High School continues. The latest exploits for the reigning Town Crier Male Athlete of the Year came last Saturday in the Massachusetts Individual Boys Tennis Tournament in Lexington, where he won two matches to advance to the Sweet 16 of the 64 person field.

Trueira, who has been outstanding all season as a member of the Wildcats team, carried his brilliance over to the individual matches over the weekend. In his first match of the day, Trueira downed Evan Beilan, the first singles player from Hamilton-Wenham, a Cape Ann rival of Wilmington. Trueira prevailed by a score of 2-6, 6-4, 7-5.

"It was kind of an odd draw for the first round because normally you won't play someone from your own league in the opening round," Wilmington coach Matt Hackett said. "Unfortunately, I did not get to see a lot of it because I was following our doubles match, but when I went back to where the match was, I had five coaches run up to me and tell me that Derek had just played the match of his life."

That Trueira had the ability to bounce back after losing the first set so convincingly did not surprise Hackett.

"Derek is a notoriously slow starter, but he bounces back well," Hackett said.

In his second round match played the same day, Trueira downed Kevin Soares of Lowell by a score of 6-2, 6-2.

"Derek was amazing in the second round, but he also did not face quite as good of an opponent as the first round," Hackett said. "For him to make the Sweet 16 against the best of the best in (the individual tournament) is quite an accomplishment."

This Saturday in the round of 16, Trueira will be matched up against the number two seed in the tournament, the number one singles player from Reading High School.

"Derek has been stepping up all year, but this is the ultimate step up for him," Hackett said. "I can tell by watching Derek that he is getting better every match and going against a player like this can only make him better."

Under 10B girls edge Tewksbury

The GU10B travel soccer team played another outstanding match this past weekend. The ladies traveled to neighboring Tewksbury to face their latest opponent.

The first half saw Cristina Wilson in net for the locals. Wilmington applied immediate pressure with Taylor Cushing and Lauren Azevedo on the forward line. Cara Kusa was once again solid on defense. Katie Blanch and Lexi Arsenault worked the midfield, demonstrating tremendous effort and hustle. Despite several strong attempts on goal, the game remained scoreless.

Emily Schuh was next to put on the keeper's gloves. Victoria Beck took a turn as sweeper and Wilmington tried to get on the scoreboard. Unfortunately, Tewksbury was the first to score and come away with the lead. Suddenly the Wildcats awakened with new determination. Lisa Hitchins stole the ball several times and keep it in Wilmington's possession. With only three minutes left to the match, Rachel Grabar, Valerie Belding and Lexi Arsenault joined Wilson and Cushing on the field for a final push.

Within seconds Arsenault carried the ball down the side line and send a perfect cross in front of the net for Grabar, who finished it off to tie the game. Now the girls were on fire.

The Wildcats continued a phenomenal attack on the Tewksbury goal. Then with seconds winding down, Wilson repeated the same great cross in front of the goal and Grabar once again sent it home. The girls squeaked out a 2-1 victory with only seconds left to play.

Final score Wilmington 2 and Tewksbury 1.

Dancewicz brothers take home four medals

This was Michael's first tournament and he won a gold medal in sparring and a bronze in Kata. The boys currently train at the Academy of Traditional Karate in Wilmington.

Pelletier leaps to new heights

By SIOBHAN L. WALSH
Sports Correspondent

Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. The golden rule, oft ignored except by those special few who realize the true reward is in giving back. Wilmington High School senior Eric Pelletier has already realized the importance of return, and so, as his days wane on the boys track team, he spends his time helping freshman like Mike Stewart mastering the hurdles.

To be sure, Pelletier is only returning a favor proffered to him several years back by another Wilmington hurdler Steve Berry. When Pelletier was a sophomore and first became interested in the hurdles, Steve Berry was the hurdling force to be reckoned with in the Cape Ann League. Pelletier remembers trying to learn the event he has become so passionate about and credits Berry with a lot of his personal development.

"I gradually got better at the hurdles, and I worked hard to get better at it," said Pelletier.

When he began hurdling, he remembers a form similar to Mike Stewart's current one. He was taking five steps between hurdles. He finally dropped that down to the most efficient three steps last year, and has already helped Stewart go from five to four this year.

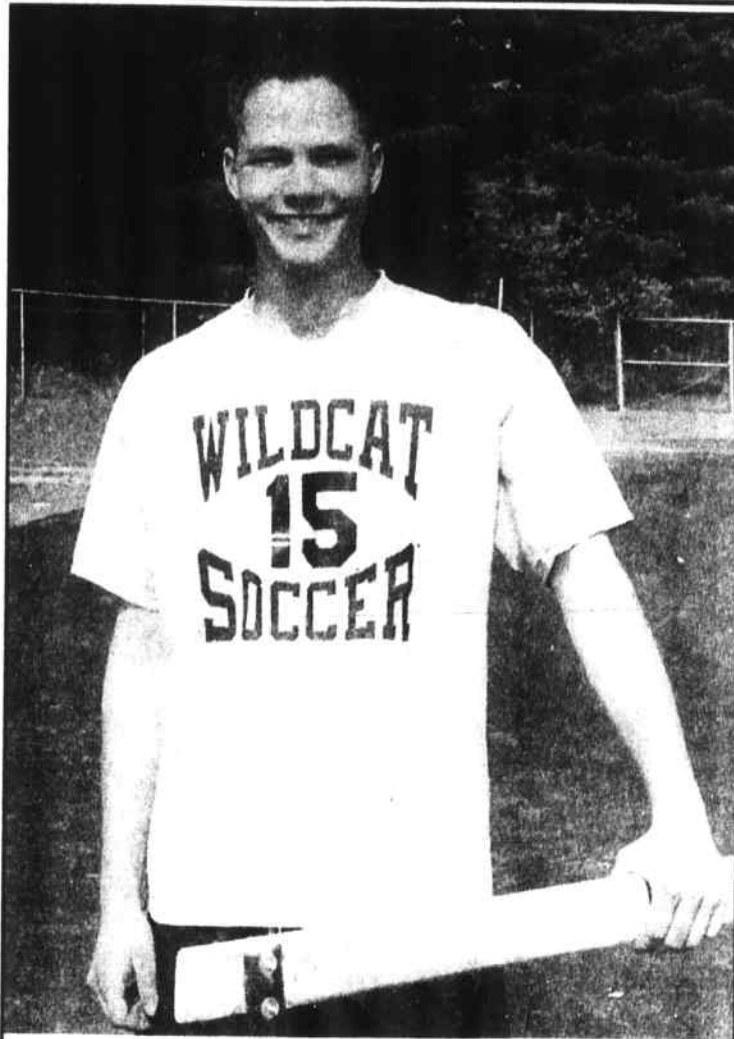

"I just wanted to make it better for the young kids [trying hurdling] now."

"He has taken on a much different role this year, not only as far as teaching and helping younger kids, but also the fact that he does 4 events every meet," said coach Bob Cripps.

Indeed, Pelletier, in addition to the hurdles, is a member of the boys 4x100 meter relay team, runs the 200 meters and performs in the long jump and high jump. He has been long jumping since his junior year, but the high jump is his own personal challenge this year.

"We just didn't have anything in the high jump, but he's stepped right in and said I'll try it, and that's just the type of person he is," said Cripps.

"I saw the 4'10" [starting mark] and thought, 'I could clear that," remembers Pelletier.

It turns out Pelletier can clear a lot more than that. He is jumping 5'4" inches these days and has won the even several times this season for the Wildcats. In fact, of late, he has beaten out jumpers from Triton and Newburyport, traditionally strong teams in the fielding events.

The hurdles though remain Pelletier's first track love. He readily admits that he won't qualify for the state meet in the 200 meters, so he views the event both as a way to help out the boys team and improve his own endurance for participation in the post-season events.

"Whenever Mike Kelley gets hurt, I have to step it up in the 200 meters...but Mike always comes back and beats everyone anyways," said Pelletier, who admits he is going to miss the camaraderie associated with being a member of Wilmington's boys' track team.

In the 110 high hurdles this year, Pelletier has already met one of his goals. In the most recent meet against North Andover, he dropped his time to 16 seconds, a new personal best for him in the event. That number was especially important for him, because Berry accomplished that time in his career. Pelletier is hoping he can improve further when he participates in the state meet and

Cape Ann League meet later this month.

"He's come a long way in the hurdles. He's got the second best time in the league, and we've got some very good hurdlers. He just keeps improving; hopefully he'll get Mike Stewart well enough so that when Eric graduate Mike will be able to step in," said Cripps.

While Eric's most important contribution to the team is debatable, he can be relied on to score between 10 and 20 points every meet. In effect, his consistency, both on and off the track, have served as an example for everyone on the team.

"He'll do whatever he can to help out the team," said Cripps.

Pelletier credits a lot of his own personal success to his own team of Mom and Dad who have been cheering him on since he first started seriously running track as a sophomore.

"My Dad has come to almost every meet," said Pelletier. "He's even taken time off work to come see me run," said Pelletier.

Steve Berry has returned several times to Wilmington and helped out the kids from occasion, as they work to perfect their techniques. Pelletier probably won't remain a stranger much either when he graduates next year.

Girls track meet goes down to the wire

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

Track-and-field is a lot more than running, jumping and throwing. Much like the game of baseball, strategy is involved. And that, strategy, and execution was the sole reason why the girls came through in arguably the most exciting meet they've competed in many years.

Knowing they probably wouldn't win the 4x400 relay race, Wilmington head coach Tom Bradley got his troops together and told them what they needed to do in order to overcome a deficit and beat North Andover, despite the five point additional swing should they lose the mile relay.

In turn, Wilmington came through with flying colors. Melissa Marques and Alicia Murray took first and second in the 800, Katherine Chin won the 200 and the 4x100 relay team had to win and the combination of Jackie Mello, Chin, Amber Warnick and Jen Comer did just that and Wilmington came away with a 73-72 win over the Scarlet Knights.

"To be honest I didn't think we had any chance of winning the meet," said Bradley. "We had some big surprises which helped a lot. It was by far the most exciting meet I've been involved in. We knew it would come down to the end, and with four events left we knew we had to win the 4x100, take first and second in the 800 and win the 200 and we did all of that to win the meet."

Besides those athletes coming through in the end, several others came through at the beginning of the race. Before the meet started, Bradley had to figure out what to do in the 300 hurdles. He was missing two of his participants, and the third, freshman Shiloh Bramantercohen approached Bradley and said that wasn't feeling well.

"North Andover had just two entrees so as long as we ran someone we would get a point as long as she finished," he said. "I told Shiloh that and said 'if you can run' we'll get a point, while she'll also earn her varsity letter by getting at least a point. She did and she came in third and got the point. If she didn't, we would have tied the meet instead of winning it."

While Bramantercohen was coming through for the team, so were several members of the team in the field events. Senior Elise Maglione continues to have a terrific season as she took first in the discus, qualifying for the state meet with a toss of 89.3 feet. Sophomore Ashley Poirier was right behind her taking a second place throwing 89 feet which was a whopping 16 feet better than her previous throw. Maglione also took first in the shot put, throwing a personal best 35-3. Junior Debbie Lyons was second in the shot put, first in the hurdles displaying terrific improvement going down to 16 seconds.

Alicia Braid leaped her best of 14-11.50 to take first in the long jump, followed by Warnick in second place jumping 14-6. Jackie Mello also won the 100 at 12.7 seconds, leaving it up for the final four events. That's when Chin won the 200 at 27.7 seconds, Marques and Murray took first and second in the 800 at 2:35.6 and 2:36.2 respectively, and the 4x100 team won its race.

"It was all just every exciting," said Bradley. "Through the first six or seven events both teams were alternating sweeps and the scores were constantly 9-0 or 8-1 so everyone knew that it would come down to the end."

Last Tuesday, Wilmington was defeated by Triton, 94-51 and came away with a 81-64 victory over Newburyport. In that meet, first places were received by: Mello in the 100 (12.8), Chin in the 200, Murray in the 800 (2:34.6), Lyons in the hurdles (16.4) and pole vault (8-0). Maglione in the shot put and discus and the 4x100 and 4x400 relay teams also won.

With the 2-1 record in their last three meets, Wilmington is 3-5 on the season. On Wednesday while this paper was being printed they faced Pentucket and Masconomet which will conclude the Cape Ann League regular season. On Saturday, May 22nd the girls will compete in the CAL Meet to be held at Hamilton-Wenham High beginning at 9:30. The State C Meet will be held on May 29th with the site yet to be determined.

Under 10-6 Wildcats leave field with an exciting win

On a bright and sunny Saturday the North Reading team hosted the Girls Under 10-6 Wildcat girls youth travel soccer team for its second meeting of this season. The North Reading team showed great spirit and determination in game that saw the Wildcat girls leave with a 5-1 victory.

The first half started with a quick strike by the Wildcat girls at the two minute mark that resulted in a goal by Ryanne Newhouse. Excellent passing and placement of the ball by Michaela D'Ambrosio and Lauren Smith allowed Newhouse to break in on the net alone and place the ball in the back of the net on a blistering shot to the corner of the goal. Playing a double shift at the backer position Ashley White provided a strong effort to keep the North Reading girls out of the Wilmington zone.

Along with support from Janelle Heenan and Marissa Genovese the Wildcat girls would solidify there lead with a goal by Brett Duffy and two goals from Michaela D'Ambrosio.

Hannah Stebbins played the whole game in net and kept the North Reading girls at bay with great saves on the rushes into the Wildcat zone during the second half. After several tries the North Reading girls placed the ball in the net at the four-teen minute mark of the second half but would not find another score as Stebbins did not let anything past the line for the rest of the game. Hannah Judkins provided several opportunities for the Wildcat girls to score with her great offensive passing. Ashley White would tally the last goal of the game on an offensive strike at the twenty-two minute mark of the second half to send the Wildcat girls on to a 5-1 victory. Undeafated so far this season the Wildcat girls look forward to taking on the girls from Reading next Saturday.

Boys track team suffers two tough defeats

By SIOBHAN L. WALSH
Sports Correspondent

It's been a rough week for the Wilmington Boys track team, who managed to drop both meets this week, including a dual meet against Newburyport and Triton. After falling to Newburyport 61-79 and Triton by a lopsided margin of 104-40, the boys ran into league leading North Andover last Thursday, only to suffer another defeat by a dismal margin of 101-44.

Perhaps, coach Bob Cripps should have realized he was in for a long week when he received a call last Monday saying the meet had been cancelled due to expected inclement weather. That weather never materialized; instead it was the boys who were inclement against Triton and Newburyport in the rescheduled meet the following day.

There were some good performances in both meets, though Cripps will be the first to attest to the fact that there were not enough. Senior Eric Pelletier, who has been one of the backbones of the boys' team this year, was consistent as usual and won both the high jump (5'4") and 110 high hurdles (16.5 seconds) against both teams. His win in the hurdles was one of three wins in the running events against Newburyport.

The other two victories belong to Alex Chalmers and Chris Murray respectively who won the 2-mile and mile in 10:50 and 5:02 respectively. In the fielding events, the boys only won three other events in addition to Pelletier's win in the high jump. Senior Dave Celli won the shotput with a throw of 37'2, Mike MacPherson won the disc with a throw of 101'7 and Brian Giamberardino took first place in the javelin with his toss of 129'3.

Against Triton, the situation was worst for the boys. In addition to Pelletier's win in the high jump and high hurdles, and Chalmers win in the 2 mile, the boys managed first place finishes in only two other events against the Triton team. Senior Mike Kelley won the 100 meters in 11.74, while teammate Brian Schell won the 800 meters in 2:07. Both boys had earned second place finishes in these events against the Newburyport team.

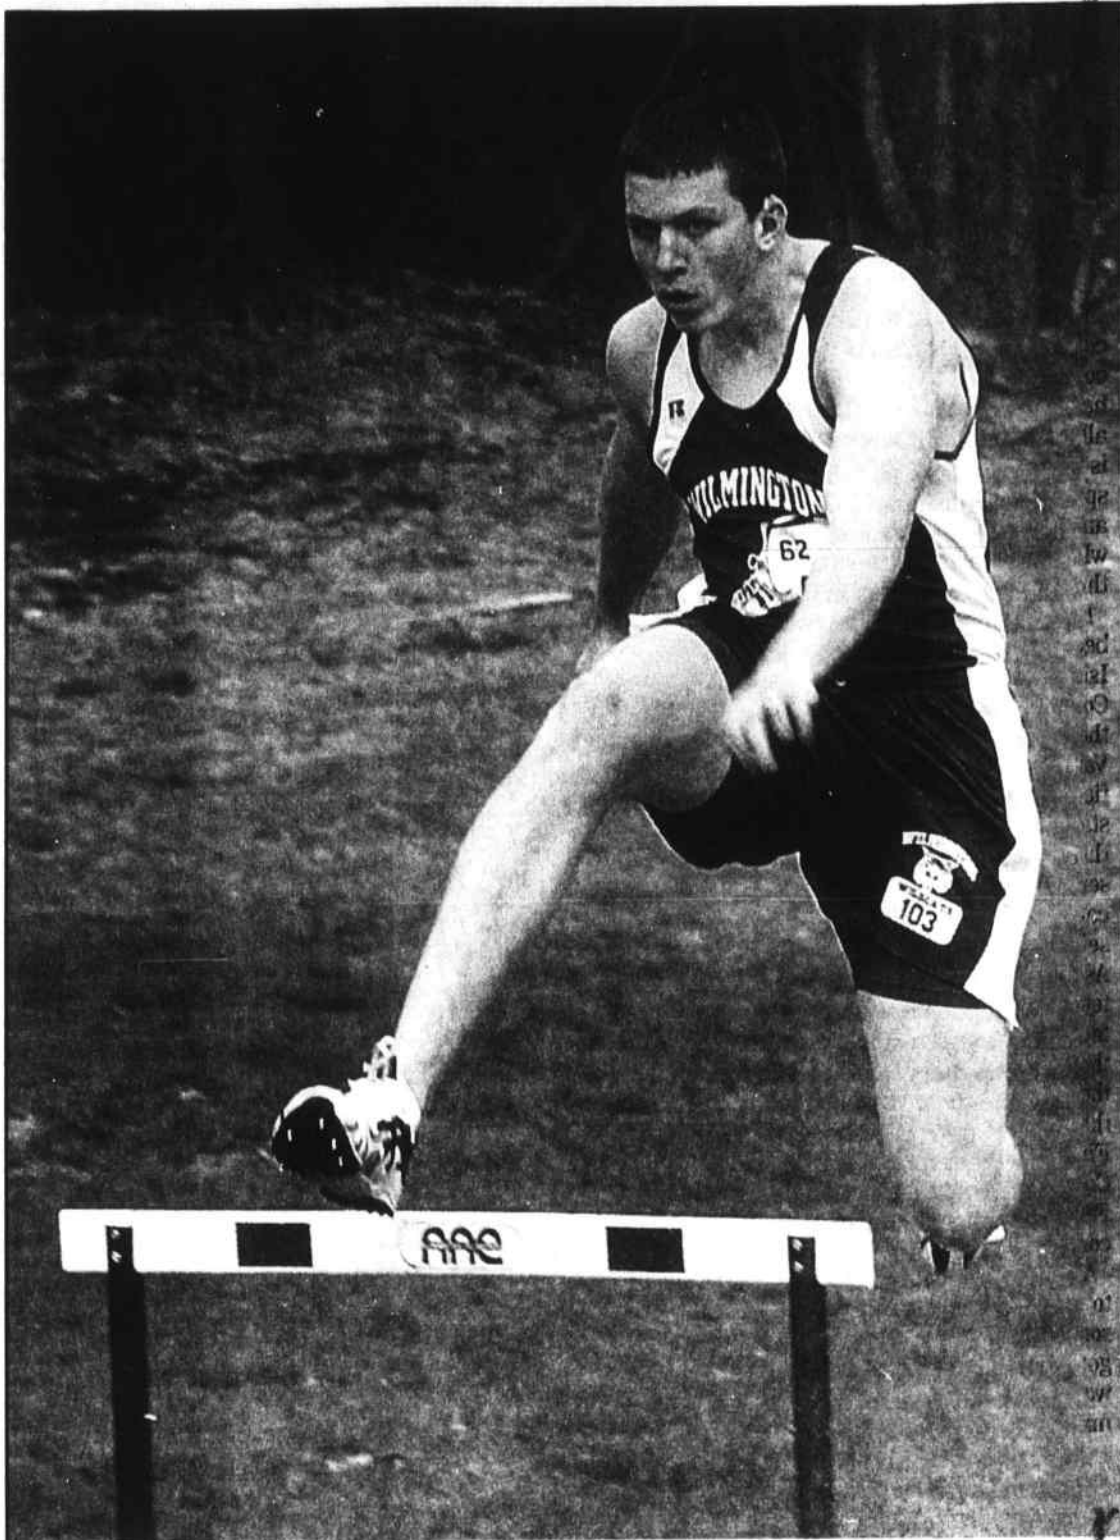

Cripps and his team entered the meet last Thursday, hoping to put two tough defeats, albeit digested in one day, behind them, but the stars were not aligned as the opponent this time was league leader North Andover. Cripps and his team were only all too aware of what North Andover had done to a Triton team, which Wilmington couldn't muster anything against two days before. And, when the meet began, it was clear they weren't going to be able to muster very much against North Andover on this day. The boys were outscored 53-10 in the field events to begin the meet. The margin was so large that Cripps termed it "virtually impossible to recover from." Both Dave Celli and Mike MacPherson managed second place finishes in the shot-put and discus respectively, and Eric Pelletier tied for second in the high jump. Those were the lone scorers for the boys in the fielding events.

The running events were a little better for Wilmington, and the boys recovered to grab victories in six of the ten events. Chris Murray, who switched from the mile to the 2-mile for the day, won the event with a time of 10:40.7, while teammate Shayne Gaffney earned top honors in the mile with his time of 4:57.6. Alex Chalmers, also switching races on the day, ran his first 800 meters in 2:09.3 seconds, thereby posting a first place finish in his debut.

Meanwhile, Brian Schell and Eric Pelletier notched victories in the sprinting events for the 'Cats. Pelletier won the hurdles with a personal best of 16 seconds, and Schell finished the 400 meters in 54.9 seconds. The 4x100 meter relay team of Brian Papageorgiou, Dave Celli, Jared Miller and Brian Giamberardino surprised Cripps when they beat North Andover's team.

Fortunately, for the boys, their spirits were buoyed at week's end by some strong performances in the Coaches Invitational Meet held at Lowell's Cawley Stadium. The 4x100 meter relay team of Miller, Giamberardino, Mike Kelley and Eric Pelletier ran a season best 46:61 and qualified for the States in the event. The 4x800 meter relay team, consisting of Shayne Gaffney, P. J. Russo, Chris Murray and Brian Schell also easily qualified for the States, when they ran 8:38.

McGonagle belts her way to second team all-conference selection

Wilmington resident Michelle McGonagle finished up a terrific two-year career with the Lesley College women's softball team. The senior, who transferred from Assumption, played first base and helped Lesley reach 14 wins this season. For her efforts, she was chosen as a Second Team All-Conference Selection for the North Atlantic Conference this year.

She also led the team in every offensive category. Michelle finished the season with a .444 batting average with 40 hits, 25 RBI, 8 triples, 34 runs scored and 10 stolen bases, while she had a slugging percentage of .656 and an on base percentage of .515. She also had a .924 fielding percentage.

Dave Rappoli

Wilmington resident Dave Rappoli returned from an arm injury to help the Bryant College men's baseball team finish its season with a 25-22 record, which included being the No. 1 seed in the Northeast-10 Conference Championship held this past week. UMass Lowell defeated Bryant in the first game ending their season.

Rappoli, a former stand out at St. John's Prep in Danvers, pitched in six games, tossing five innings for Bryant.

Ferrari speeds ahead to coaching life

By DAN DILWORTH
Sports Correspondent

Wilmington High JV baseball coach Dave Ferrari is a newcomer to the program, but he has been involved in baseball all his life. He love of the game is reflected in his playing of the sport throughout high school and college and his coaching, which he has done for the past three years.

Ferrari's exposure to baseball began in Coventry, Rhode Island. Ferrari attended Coventry High School and there, he played three years on Varsity as a first baseman/outfielder. The team made the state tournament each of the three years he played. His senior year, he was the team captain and an all-division selection. He was also on Assumption College's baseball team as a left-handed pitcher for three years while attending the school. In his senior year, the team made it all the way to the Northeast Ten Conference Finals, but lost to Stonehill College. That same year, Ferrari was a second team, all-conference selection.

After college, he was looking to stay involved in baseball in some way. He said that once he got out into the "working world", as he put it, he really missed the game.

"I really missed being around the guys and having fun and competing, so I figured the best way to stay active was to get involved in coaching," he said. "I really enjoy competing and trying to make these kids better players."

He explained how his search for a coaching job ended in Wilmington.

"When Aldo Caira got the coaching job, he was looking to develop his coaching staff. I know his nephew (Mike) and I played baseball in college. He knew I wanted to be a coach somewhere and that's how I got involved in Wilmington," he explained.

That was three years ago; he joined Aldo Caira's coaching staff as an assistant coach of the varsity team. The next year, he became the head coach of the Junior Varsity team. Both of those years were successful for the teams he's coached; last year, the freshman team went 9-5 and this year, he is coaching another .500 team with the JV boys at 5-5.

In Ferrari's opinion, the most important thing is the quality of the people that he's coached and he's happy to say that he has coached great kids. And in fact, a group of kids on this year's JV team were on Ferrari's freshman team last year. He says that it has been great to have the opportunity to coach the kids for two years.

"The best part about coaching is these kids. I was very excited to get the JV job this year because I knew I was going to have the majority of the kids I had last year - these kids have been great to work with and a lot of fun," he said.

Ferrari's love of baseball has certainly translated into a love for coaching it. He says that he loves teaching the skills and watching the kids improve over the course of the season. But he also says that winning is important; remaining competitive helps morale.

"You basically have to teach the kids to just really work hard and while you need to have fun - that is very important," he said. "But they need to treat this as a responsibility. (They need to) come to practice everyday, work hard and be a team. A team is always better than being an individual."

His philosophy has certainly worked so far and, certainly, his love of baseball also helps his coaching ability. Hopefully, it will continue working long into the future.

Wilmington High sub-varsity sports round-up

By DAN DILWORTH
Sports Correspondent

The Wilmington High JV baseball team had a successful week, beating North Reading by the score of 8-5 and beating Ipswich 7-6. Coach Dave Ferrari was very happy with what he saw from the boys in the past week.

"I'm ecstatic with the number of close we've had, I'm very happy with the team; they practice and play well," said Ferrari.

Against North Reading, the 'Cats went up 5-2 early but North Reading was able to come back and tie the score later. Wilmington scored three more runs, however, and was able to win the game. Brian Caira was the winning pitcher with a complete game, three-hitter. Josh Cunha was the offensive player of the game with three hits and three runs batted in.

The game against Ipswich was a very close, back-and-forth affair. With the score 6-5 in favor of Ipswich in the sixth inning, the 'Cats scored two runs and went on to win the game. The rally began with hits by Tom Miele and Alex Montalto. The next batter, Andy Otovic, sent a long fly ball deep into the outfield. The ball was misplayed, allowing the two runs to score, making it 7-6 Wilmington. That is how the game would stay.

Ferrari was happy with the team's ability to score runs in clutch situations. And when they fall behind in a game, they never give up and keep fighting hard. The pitching and defense have both been very impressive, according to Ferrari.

Next week, the boys play Pentucket, Amesbury and North Andover. They have played both Amesbury and Pentucket earlier in the season and lost to both teams by only one run.

Freshmen Softball

The freshmen girls struggled this week, losing to North Andover and to North Reading. Coach Richard Wheatley did see some positives in the games, however.

Kate Phaup played well and in one of the games, began the 'Cats, first double play of the year. She was playing third base when the ball rolled to her. The girl who was on third base at the time was off the bag. Phaup noticed this and tagged the runner for the first out before throwing to first base for the second.

Meanwhile, the pitching was good in the game against North Reading. Kelsey Kusa and Emily O'Donahue both saw action in the game. They struck out a lot of batters and did not walk many.

The team is also working on its hitting and Wheatley likes that the girls have been hitting a lot of hard line-drives. Wheatley hopes the girls just keep improving and playing hard.

"They're still staying positive and still learning," Wheatley said about the team.

Next week, the girls play Masconomet and Ipswich. In their last game against Masconomet, the 'Cats only lost by a run and are hoping to improve upon that this week.

Freshmen Baseball

The freshmen boys have struggled so far this season, posting a 3-6 record so far. In their last three games, they've gone 1-2, beating Pentucket 15-11, losing to North Reading 10-8 and losing to Newburyport 9-2. Regardless of their struggles, Coach Anthony Altieri likes the attitude with which they have played in the games.

"They've played hard to the end and have never given up - I really like the good attitude," said Altieri.

In the past three games, Jon Chirichiello has pitched very well in relief and has a record of 2-0 on the season. On offense, Brendan Sheehan and Eric Legro contributed to the game against North Reading with homeruns.

What the boys have struggled most with this season seems to be defense. Altieri wants to work on the boys, defensive skills in practice and improve that aspect of their game. After that, they can begin playing .500 baseball.

Next week, the team plays Masconomet, Lynnfield and Ipswich.

Local opens sports physical therapy practice

Two years ago, he was at the start of the bobsled track at the Olympic Winter Games watching two of the five athletes he trained take gold medals and one clinch the silver. It was at that point, when he was at the top of his field that Doug White decided he would retire from the hectic pace of world-class sports medicine. After ten years in the field and more than two years with USA Skeleton Doug felt it was time to focus his energy more towards home.

Now, Doug White, MSPT, L/ATC, CSCS is back home where he has been establishing a physical therapy practice and strength and conditioning program inside RMA fitness here in Wilmington.

Since the 2002 games Doug has been rehabilitating patients from all over the North Shore and New England. The physical therapy clinic is busy most days with patients being treated for everything from sprains and strains to people rehabilitating after major surgery.

"Being affiliated with the fitness center really allows me to address the whole person from a wellness approach. An example is one patient with a shoulder injury may be instructed to take the spinning class. Although he may have injured his shoulder, he still has a set of lungs and a pair of legs that must stay strong. This allows people to return to full activity faster since they are not working to 'get back into shape' after a long term injury."

Although White's Physical Therapy clinic is the main focus of his business, Doug's true pet project is running the strength and conditioning program each summer.

"I really enjoy that aspect of medicine. It is great to see these athletes improve and do better in their sport. It is quite a challenge to take a person with no apparent weaknesses and assist them to achieve the next level of ability."

Having the world-class and Olympic experience, Doug knows what it takes for an athlete to go all the way and what kind of things to focus on.

This summer he will be offering a strength and conditioning program geared toward boys and girls 14 years and older looking to make athletic gains in the summer months prior to returning back to high school or college. This allows me to have the fun of teaching and training athletes and still be home with my family (in time for dinner).

"Most sport training focuses on positional play, sport specific drills and strategy. While all these are necessary, it is equally important to develop the eight components of strength and conditioning to maximize fitness levels and maximize overuse and sports related injuries."

White is concerned that too many young athletes are pushing themselves to excel without the training necessary. This leads to unnecessary risk and injury on the playing field. Increased competitiveness can all too often cause injuries. This doesn't have to be the case." He asserts that proper conditioning can increase flexibility, aerobic endurance, muscle endurance, strength, power, speed, balance and agility. While this does not guarantee that an athlete will qualify for that all important sports scholarship, proper strength and conditioning can help ensure that the athlete is fit to participate in any sport activity and help them maintain a physically fit lifestyle. This will become increasingly important as the athlete ages.

During a four week program, athletes 14 and older work to develop the skills necessary to improve their performance, reduce the risk of injury, and learn how to take care of their bodies needs while maintaining a rigorous training program. This is ideal for The Wilmington Athletics Program, which has great expectations for its fall sports such as Football, Field Hockey, and Soccer. The program will be offered three evenings per week from 7-9 PM, July 20 August 12 ending just in time for the fall sports camps at the high schools. The program offers the full four-week session for $350.00. For further information into the field of sports medicine and strength and conditioning call or write: (978) 658-5556, BODYMECHANIX P.O. Box 4053 Andover, MA 01810.

Douglas White has expressed his willingness to be a resource for further inquiries into the field of sports medicine and strength and conditioning.

Under 12-4 girls team takes on Waltham

The U12-4 Wilmington Girls Soccer team traveled to Waltham on Saturday May 8th for the fifth game of the spring season. Unfortunately the Waltham team was not at the scheduled field and after what seemed like a Twilight Zone episode of "musical fields" we were able to track them down.

Shortly into the game it was apparent that the girls were not playing on all cylinders, they seemed out of sorts and were making uncharacteristic mistakes. Unfortunately this led to a couple of fairly quick scores by Waltham. They could have been down by more if not for some hard working defensive play by Wilmington. Kelly Flaherty broke up a sure breakout by Waltham and paid the price by hitting the dirt hard. Kaitlyn McGuire, Elizabeth Jaeschke and Chelsey Westerberg were kept quite busy in the defensive zone and had their hands full with the large aggressive

Waltham forwards. Because of their hard work Waltham would not find the twine for the rest of the half.

Wilmington had their chances on offense in the first half as well. Midfielder Kelly Duffy sent a couple of nice balls up to Samantha Reed and Heather Kealos for some good scoring opportunities. Left forward Fiona Gately made a nice rush down the left side and made a beautiful centering pass that was just out of the reach of Heather's foot.

Being down 2-0 with a half of soccer left to play is a pretty good size hole to be in. Maybe a lot of players would say game over just pack it in and look forward to next week. Not this team.

There's a great baseball coach who is famous for saying "it ain't over till it's over". With a half of soccer yet to play, and Jessica Lees hitting the field after being confined to net for the first half, the game was far from over. As a matter of fact the game was just about to begin.

With the ball bouncing near mid field Alyssa Fiorentino made a great play getting to the ball and feeding it up to Heather. Heather made a nice pass over to Jessica who drove hard to the net and managed to get a shot past the keeper. Like Kelly Flaherty earlier, Jessica paid the price hitting the dirt hard.

Wilmington's aggressive mid-fielders Gina Ameral, Meaghan Souza and Lauren Cole along with stopper Jenny Garrard controlled the ball for most of the second half feeding balls up to their forwards as well as taking passes and shooting on net themselves. Wilmington fired shot after shot at the Waltham net and you knew the tying goal couldn't be far away. Jessica charged at a high bouncing ball near mid-field and headed it up to center forward Stefany Mason. Stefany had some room to move in front of the Waltham net and anyone who has ever seen her play knows that usually means one thing, trouble for the opposing keeper.

Like Jessica earlier and Kelly before her, Stefany paid the price for going to the net, but she came away smiling because she had tied the game up for her team. With the game tied and Waltham reeling the girls kept the pressure on. Courtney See and Samantha both worked the ball up and then back passed to mid-fielders Lauren and Meaghan who both took shots at Waltham's net. As hard as they tried the girls were unable to get the go ahead goal. Coming back from an 2-0 deficit to tie a game up and earn a point is as close to a "W" as you can get. Sensational job girls! Way to hang in there and keep battling! Keep up the hard work!

Shawsheen Tech Sports Round-Up

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

The Shawsheen Tech baseball team seems to be putting on a late season push for a good seed in the state tournament as well as a possible run at the Commonwealth Athletic Conference title. Last week the Rams won both of their games to improve their record to 8-4 overall and 8-2 within the CAC.

The Rams first win of the week came last Tuesday with a 16-1 road victory over Greater Lawrence. The Rams were led in the game by the outstanding pitching of Tewksbury native Steve Stocki who allowed just six hits and struck out 12 batters without allowing a walk.

Offensively, the Rams were led by Howie Deardorff, Wilmington's Matt Hogg and Tewksbury's Jon Sholl, each of whom had a hit and an RBI.

The win for the Rams was also the first league loss of the season for Greater Lawrence, pulling the Rams within one game of the league lead. The Rams followed the big win over Greater Lawrence with another road win, this time a 14-3 rout of Lynn Tech on Thursday.

The offensive stars were many for the Rams in this game where they jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first inning, saw the score tied 3-3 in the bottom of the first, but then broke open with four more runs in the top of the third and then cruised from there.

Wilmington native Kyle Browne was the biggest star of all with two home runs and four RBI, while fellow Wilmington native Dan Reed chipped in with three hits and an RBI. The Rams also got RBI from Hogg, Deardorff, Sholl, John Higgins and Tewksbury's Ken Aalerud.

Getting the win for the Rams was Sean Turner, who settled down after the tough first inning to allow only four hits over four innings. The three first inning runs against Turner were all unearned.

Lacrosse

The Shawsheen lacrosse team continued their remarkable season last week, picking up two more wins to improve their overall record to 8-0. Along with extending their unbeaten streak, the eight win of the season also assured the Rams of their second trip to the state tournament in as many years of existence for the program.

They began their week with a 9-0 rout of Assabet Valley on Wednesday. The game started off rather slowly as the field was slow and wet due to the rain of the previous day and the Rams held just a 3-0 lead at the end of the first half. They then added two more goals in the third quarter before putting the game away with four goals in the fourth quarter.

Leading the way offensively for the Rams was senior attackman Brian Warden who had four goals and an assist. Warden scored all three of the Rams first half goals, actual netting them all in the first quarter to get his team off to a good start.

Sophomore Kyle Marzeoti added two goals and three assists, while Ron Raymond, Aaron Stanton and Tewksbury's Peter Capraro added a goal each. Tewksbury native Hank Chase made 17 saves for the win.

On Thursday afternoon, the Rams traveled to Lynn Tech and there was no slow start in this one, as the Rams earned a 13-2 win after going out to an 8-1 halftime lead and coasting the rest of the way. Warden was once again huge for the Rams with three goals, and Marzeoti added three more of his own, but the big star for the Rams was Raymond, who potted four goals to lead the team. Other goal scorers for the Rams were Dan Roy with two goals and Jon Santos with one. Chase once again got the job done in goal with nine saves.

Softball

The Shawsheen softball team bounced back from what had been a heartbreaking 1-0 loss to Tyngsboro two weeks ago to post two very impressive wins last week over North Shore and Wellesley.

The two wins improved the Lady Rams record to 8-2 overall and 6-2 within the Commonwealth Athletic Conference.

The Lady Rams opened their week last Tuesday with another extra inning nail biter, but this time they ended up on the winning end of a 1-0 win over CAC rival North Shore.

Senior pitcher Jen Elwell of Tewksbury was in her usual top form in earning the victory, striking out 17 batters while allowing only two hits, but still the score stood scoreless into the top of the ninth inning when the Lady Rams got all of the offense they would need.

Sophomore Samantha Aiello got the game winning rally started with a double and advanced to third when Marissa Porter executed a sacrifice bunt. She then trotted home with the winning run on a single by Wilmington native Ashley Robar.

Aiello and Robar had two hits apiece for the Lady Rams to lead the team along with senior Katie Russo, who also had a pair of hits. On Thursday the Lady Rams played another road game, this one a very rare night game at non-league rival Wellesley, and Shawsheen came away with a big 2-1 victory.

Elwell was once again dominant, striking out 13 and allowing just three hits. Shawsheen got their runs early in this one and then watched as Elwell made he lead hold up, allowing only a ninth inning run.

The offense for the Lady Rams in that second inning was once again provided by Robar and Porter, each of whom had an RBI in the frame. Shawsheen would total seven hits in the game with senior Denise Lazarra providing three of them and Elwell helping her own cause with a pair of hits. Tewksbury native Sarah Zimmer also chipped in with a hit.

Co-Ed Tennis

The Shawsheen co-ed tennis team improved their record to 3-2 overall on the season with an impressive 5-2 road win over Minuteman on Thursday afternoon. Winners for the Rams in singles matches were Chris Holak by a score of 10-0 and Jaryd Palmer by a score of 10-3. In the doubles matches, the team of Bryan Dulong and Dan Metcalf won by a score 10-3, while Kayla Holmes and Dennis Aucoin rolled to a 12-0 win and Eileen Warford and Sarah Townsend earned a 10-4 win.

Under 9B girls battle hard against Stoneham

Stoneham traveled to Wilmington this Saturday where they meet our U9 B-girls for another action-packed game of soccer. Emily Colosimo started as the Wildcat's first half keeper with Delaney Gillis and Megan Priem holding up the defensive line.

The first offensive line consisted of Kim O'Dea, Kelsey Mangan and Lauren McKenna. Wilmington had many great scoring opportunities with some amazing passing and great footwork of the offense. They kept the Stoneham keeper busy making several difficult saves. Emily was unbelievable in net and made some show stopping saves.

The next rotation had Erin Duffy on defense and Caitlin Cheney in for the offense. Again these girls showed great teamwork in working the ball down into the opponent's end and continued to fire some great shots on net. Stoneham did get on the board first with some quick end of first half goals and despite Emily's cat-like reflexes the ball just barley squeaked in.

The second half of play saw Kelsey, Megan and Kim in for the offensive force for the Wildcats. Time and again there were many scoring opportunities and several close calls with the ball ricocheting off the goal posts. The girls continued to challenge the Stoneham defense.

The Wildcats now had the "iron curtain" defense of Erin and Delaney in to help Wilmington keeper Caitlin from seeing too much action. Erin was superb in clearing the ball with powerful goal kicks and Delaney put an end to any Stoneham breakaways. If the ball did get shot on net, Caitlin was terrific in making sure the ball didn't cross the goal line. Another change up with Emily in at offense gave the wildcats more scoring chances. Emily showed great determination in working the ball down the field and made some great passes.

All in all it was a great game to watch and again these girls did such an amazing job in working together as a team and staying determined and focused throughout the game. Our thanks again to our great coaching staff of Walter Duffy, Andrea Gillis and Andy Mangan for their time and effort. Their great attitudes towards the game make it so much fun for these kids. Also, as always, thanks to the parents, families and fans that come out each and every week to support our girls!

Under 9A girls continue fast pace action

This past Saturday the Wildcats visited Stoneham for what they knew would be a tough soccer match. Wilmington started the game with a new goalkeeper, Holly Niemiec, who against the highest scoring team in the division, played the first half like a seasoned veteran. In front of Holly, the Wildcats sent out Jackie Parece and Colleen Brothers on defense and Kimberly Woods, Taylor O'Byrne and Gianna Tummino on offense. These girls gave it their all in mounting an attack on Stoneham's net and came close a few times.

The next line had Jacqueline Kennedy, Alliy Gemellaro and Michelle Woods on offense, with Emily Barrasso and Marissa Lena on defense. All ways may be used in the town of Wilmington.

the girls gave it their all, with a few of them collecting a few bumps and bruises on the way. The Stoneham attack was relentless and they went into the half with a big lead. During the half, the Wildcats sprinted across the field and presented their mothers with flowers for Mother's Day, wearing their always present smiles.

The second half started with Marissa swapping places in net with Holly. Marissa was playing great when during a save attempt she banged up her knee and was helped off the field, she later was able to return to the game. Jackie Parece was Wilmington's third keeper of the game. During the second half there were some close shots by Taylor and Emily, but by the end of the game Stoneham's lead was too big catch up. The girls will be bringing their great attitude to a home game, this Saturday morning against Lincoln.

Papageorgiou visits Portugal as part of soccer tournament

Vinny Papageorgiou of Wilmington was a member of the Mass U13/U14 Boys ODP Soccer team which recently visited Azores, Portugal in April.

The trip is told through the pen of coaches and players...

We received very positive comments from the international opponents and media alike. People were very impressed with the behavior demonstrated by our teams, whether we won or lost. The high level of soccer demonstrated by the Mass ODP players also stirred attention among the local Portuguese residents.

In terms of soccer results, we started off the week by playing two friendly games. A team consisting of U13 and U14 ODP players matched up against the U15 Maritimos Club, but just fell short of a win, losing 2-1. Making a come back in the second game, Mass ODP redeemed itself, winning 3-0 against the Sao Roque U15 team. On Tuesday, tournament play began with Mass ODP winning its first game 6-1 over the Rabo de Peixe U15 team. But the win was followed by the second loss of the week, losing to the Santa Clara U15 team 6-1.

On Wednesday, tournament play heated up with both Mass

ODP teams moving on to play in the 3rd and 1st place games. The Mass ODP U13 team played against the Rabo de Peixe U15 team for the 3rd and 4th place. Although the final score was Mass ODP U13 to Rabo de Peixe U15's 5, it was a close, exciting game. For the first time this season, the boys played together as a team with periods of very beautiful soccer against a team two to three years older! Mass ODP U13 showed a lot of heart, demonstrating maturity beyond their years. Wrapping up the tournament, the Mass ODP U14 team played the U15 Santa Clara team in the finals. The media, coaches, and spectators were unanimous on what a great game of soccer our Mass ODP U14 played! The game started out very balanced with both teams making dangerous counter attacks, ending the first half in a 1-1 tie. But the second half was a different story. The Mass ODP U14 team just dominated! Especially in the last 20 minutes, the boys only allowed the Santa Clara team in our defensive third once! But the score did not show the proper result, ending regulation play with a 2-2 tie. Unfortunately, we lost 4-3 in a penalty shootout that ensued. Instead of hanging our heads, we lost with class and dignity.

After the game, every single person on that field was talking about the exemplary display of sportsmanship by the Mass ODP teams. The Director of Coaching, Mike Singleton, Paulo Vasconcelos, Arthur Dimitrakopoulos, John Amorim, the Goalkeeper Coach for Region 1, and I were very happy and proud of the boys.

Wednesday the real fun began... the World Famous Beach tournament or as it is better known as the I.B.S. Tournament! The defending champions, the coaches' team, won the championship again with a final score of 4-3. The players' team played well, but the superior soccer skills and fitness of the coaches' team would determine the final score (the referee was a coach also!)

Looking back, this trip was not just about soccer. It was about experiencing a different culture. For example, at a dinner with the Soccer Association of Ponta Delgada Board of Directors, they invited Mass ODP to participate in the Ponta Delgada International Tournament next year! We also had lunch in Fumas (the world famous delicious cozido das Fumas) with the local government representatives, and went on some sight-seeing trips.

Twins defeat the Brewers in Jr. League softball

Twins 22, Brewers 9

In Junior League Softball action last week Wilmington teams met up with their Tewksbury counterparts on the diamond. On Tuesday the Wilmington Brewers hosted the Tewksbury Twins at Glen Road. The Twins combined excellent pitching and a strong defense to defeat the Brewers 22-9. Control problems on the mound and errors in the field by the Brewers allowed the Twins to jump out to a 13-0 lead by the top of the second inning.

The Brewers scored three in their half of the second with hits by Shelbi Rygiel and Breanne Kindred. The Twins scored two in the third but were kept from another big inning when pitcher Kim Stockton struck out two and combined with catcher Rygiel to nail a runner trying to score from third. Bridget Griffin, Kristi Adley, Taylor Kindred, and Brittany Schuh drove in runs in the Brewers third when they scored five runs on six hits. Colleen MaGee doubled and scored in the fourth but that was as far as the Brewers would go this night as darkness rolled in.

Astros 10, Brewers 6

On Thursday the Brewers travelled to Strong Field in Tewksbury to take on the Astros and both teams provided their fans with an entertaining game. One rough inning in the field cost the Brewers as the Astros scored seven of their ten runs in the fourth, wiping out a 3-2 Brewer lead.

Trying to fix their recent pitching problems, the Brewers went with a different pitcher each inning and got much improved results. Bridget Griffin, Brittany Schuh, and Shelbi Rygiel each pitched a scoreless inning. Colleen Kennedy, Colleen MaGee, and Breanne Kindred gave up only a total of six hits in their combined innings.

Kim Stockton had a RBI-double in the 5th and Rygiel drove in the final two runs in the seventh. Other RBIs were recorded by Schuh, Nina Burke, and Dawn DiCicco.

Other than the Astros fourth inning, the Brewers defense played very well. Fourteen groundball outs were handled with 1B MaGee getting 12 of the putouts. An alert play by catcher Griffin and 3B Rygiel caught a Tewksbury runner straying too far off base and recorded the out 2-5-2 in the third.

As with the previous game, Tewksbury pitching was superb as one pitcher went six of the seven innings and held the Brewers to six hits and stranded 12 runners. Overall it was a well played game by both teams but the win goes to the Astros, 10-6.

Pirates Over Expos 16-9

It was a softball battle at the West Intermediate field, with the Pirates coming out on top 16-9. The pitchers for the Rotary Club sponsored Expos were Briana Parow and Elizabeth Crannell while their counter parts were Tori Lord and Jessica Stukey for the Pirates sponsored by Lordscape Inc. Jessica Burke, Alyssa Niham, Emily Damelio and Jenny Garrade had hits for the Pirates. While on the defensive side Amanda Hollenback, Kayla Davidson, Kellyn Campbell, Nancy Hurly and Taylor Hanley played great!

The Expos had multiple hits by Christine Woods and Kristen McNally while Ashley Gonsalves, Nicole Luz and Kate Adley had additional hits. While throwing the leather around was Elizabeth Olson, Courtney See, Candice Witkowski and Shannon Keefe for the Expos.

Blue Jays Top Phillies 18 - 1

A game was played at Glen Road this past Wednesday, between the HRH Insurance sponsored Phillies and the Blue Jays, sponsored by the Sons Of Italy, in girls Major League Softball. The Phillies bats were quiet this evening. Jackie Zarembo, Jill Fudge, Katelyn Hayes, and Jacqui Lyman led the Phillies on offense. The Phillies defense was led by Sara Alonardo, Michelle Filippi, Heather Kealos, Ceara, Dembowski, Amanda Keane and Aubrey Ungvasky.

The Blue Jays hit the ball well this game. Kaitlyn Souza, Erin Crowley, Charlotte Jensen and Jennifer Stewart led the hit parade. The pitching off Chelsie Babcock kept the Phillies hitters off balance all game. The defense was sharp, with Kayla Whooley, Angela Maglione, Allie Holbert and Danielle Polcari leading the way. The catcher for the Blue Jays, Meaghan Souza made a couple of nice catches from behind the plate. The game was a well played for both teams, with some nice defensive plays sprinkled in. The final score was Blue Jays 18 and Phillies 1.

AA Baseball

Expos over Cubs

Expos Edge Cubs In 'AA' Action The Cubs and Expos battled it out on Tuesday with the Expos, sponsored by The Lawn Doctor edging out the 99 Restaurant sponsored Cubs, 7-5. The hit parade for the Expos was led by Andrew Camaliri, Killian Smith, Dan Credon and Ryan Kennedy while the hits for the Cubs came from Zach Anderson, EJ Boggia, Steven Taylor and Dan Vigneau. The game featured some outstanding pitching from Brendon McDonough and Camaliri of the Expos and Tony Silva and Jeff Hill of the Cubs. Both teams are anticipating the rematch.

Senior League Cardinals

After dropping their season opener by one run to the Padres, the senior baseball league Cardinals extended their 2004 record to 3-1. Sparked by the 14 yr. old brother tandem of Rob and Steve McIsaac as well as Mike DeNufrio, Richie Murray, Will Starrat, and Paul Martell, the team has come together to rip off wins against the Devil Rays, Dodgers, and Marlins. The new additions join 15 yr. olds Jerry Smith, Mike Laferello, and Chris Bocchino, and are anchored by 16 yr. olds Mike Frissore, Andy Otovic, Jeremy Schuh, Mike Sorrentino, and Mike Fogarty. The mix seems to be working well for the Cardinals who thus far have had good pitching and timely hitting to gain their three wins.

Diamondbacks Outduel

Expos 12-10

It was a Saturday afternoon slugfest that saw the Citizens Bank sponsored Diamondbacks hang on to a 12-10 victory over the Angels, sponsored by Ski Haus/N.O.T.B., in AA action. The Angels offense was powered by Nathan Grimley, with a triple and 2 singles and Eric Hamilton with a pair of clutch singles. Defensive standouts for the Angels were Jimmy O'Neil and Kyle Peach.

The D'backs sent nine batters to plate in the first inning with big hits from Matt Costello (3-4) and Matt Ferreira (2-for-4), who also had another solid game behind the plate. Kevin Burke and Mike Biondo (2-for-4) took care of pitching duties while Mike Daley and Dan Collins made outstanding plays on defense.

Cubs Down Padres 12-2

The 99 Restaurant sponsored Cubs and the Padres sponsored by Pacific Packaging Products, fought it out for four innings before the Cubs pulled away for a 12-2 victory. The game saw excellent pitching from Mike Brent, Adam Burke, (struck out five of seven batters) and Steven Taylor of the Cubs and Vanessa Cowan of the Padres. The hits for the Cubs came from Dan Vigneau, Tony Silva, Brent (two doubles), EJ Boggia (two hits, double), Anthony Bellino and Eric Surrence while the Padres hitters were Maggie Brown (three hits, double), Tyler Macinnis and Frankie Cerbone. The defensive play of the game was made by EJ Boggia at first on a line shot from Jeff Goosens in the last inning.

Morlani ignites Lightning baseball

Anthony Morlani, Wilmington helped lead defending AAU 13U Mass State Champion Lightning Baseball of New England to a 4-0 start in the opening weekend of the regular season play. Lightning Baseball swept back-to-back doubleheaders this past Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday, Lightning Baseball defeated the "Dugout Dawgs" of Cape Cod 13-0 and 7-4. On Sunday, Lightning Baseball continued their hot hitting with 15-1 and 10-4 wins over "Ballplayers" from Worcester, MA.

Morlani went 2-for-7 for the weekend with three RBI, two runs scored and two walks. Defensively he was outstanding behind the plate with no passed balls.

Morlani helped lead Lightning Baseball to a doubleheader sweep of Frozen Ropes (from Franklin, MA) 7-2 and 23-1. Lightning Baseball, defending AAU 13U Mass State Champion, is now 6-0 in the AAU MA State Tournament qualifying round.

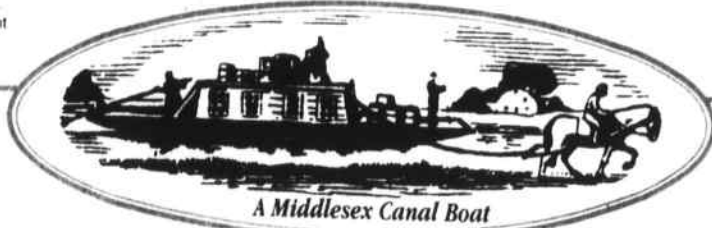

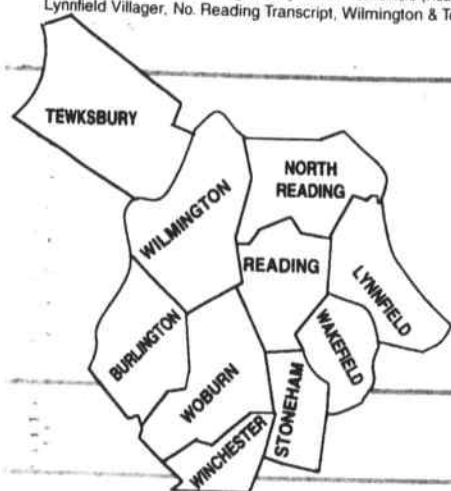

Morlani went 1-for-2, scored a run and caught a runner stealing. Wallace went 2-for-6 in the doubleheader with a single, an RBI double, a walk and a run scored.

Area hotels are filling up fast for the DNC and travel to Boston will be a nightmare

By DOUG WOOD-BOYLE

Anybody who has guests coming in the week of July 25-30 better start booking hotel rooms for them now, even in this area. Trips should also be planned to the North Shore, New Hampshire and Cape Cod, but not to Boston.

The Democratic National Convention will be meeting at Boston's Fleet Center during that week and all of the hotels in the city are already booked. The Democratic National Committee is estimating about 35,000 delegates, guests, media people, and dignitaries will be in the city for the event.

With rooms ranging from $139 to $199, the Crowne Plaza Boston/Woburn's Director of Hotel Sales Catherine Stevens said, "We are sold out during that time period."

She noted that it is not usually a peak week for the Woburn facility.

Jim Kappel, general manager of the Marriott Boston/Burlington said, "We expect that week to be very busy. In the last few weeks we've received some telephone calls from the Democratic National Committee for rooms. It looks like they will take rooms from Peabody to Quincy."

Namita Raina, public relations and tourism coordinator for the Greater Boston Convention and Visitors Bureau released the following statement: "Although the Democratic National Convention has reserved 80 percent of the rooms of selected hotels, 20 percent at each of the hotels remain for corporate and leisure visitors. There are 68 Boston and Cambridge hotels, and 80 more hotels in neighboring suburbs, so the Bureau does not anticipate problems for visitors.

"Of the 31,000 available hotel rooms in Greater Boston, the DNC will use 17,000."

In Burlington, Tewksbury, Wakefield, and Woburn there are 28 hotels. According to Orbitz.com they are rated: one-star at $60 per night (2); two stars at $69 to $99 per-night (8); and three stars from $79 to $152 per-night (15).

In the one star category Orbitz is showing that Extended Stay America in Tewksbury does not have room available for the week of the convention. However, this is not the norm for the Tewksbury area and Extended Stay does not cater to short-term guests.

Catherine Cepatis, director of sales at the Holiday Inn Tewksbury/Andover, a more traditional facility said, "We still have rooms available. The Convention has not affected us as yet."

The Fairfield Inn by Marriott in Tewksbury is reporting advanced bookings of 50 percent. However, they are transferring some tours from Woburn because that facility is already booked.

Orbitz also shows the two star Staybridge Suites in Burlington, another long-term business client type of facility, as being booked for the week. In the three-star category the Sierra Suites, Courtyard by Marriott, the Radisson, and the Residence Inn by Marriott, all in Woburn and the Homestead in Burlington all show no rooms available.

North of I-93, both the Lord Wakefield/Best Western and the Sheraton Colonial Hotel and Golf Club still have rooms available but are expecting a busy week.

Sheraton General Manager Ron Tarson said, "We've got a couple of things on the books that are convention related Folks, one man's name is indelibly etched in my memory. Jack Barton is his name. He was a supervisor in the BOSTON NAVAL SHIPYARD and every Monday morning, on every ship, shop and office, a stand-up safety meeting was held.

I, along with many others, would ask, "Where is Jack Barton holding his MEETING this morning?"

Jack was a gifted speaker and a Will Rogers-type of guy. During the meeting, he would point his finger and ask, "WHAT IS YOUR PURPOSE IN LIFE?"

One morning, he pointed his finger at me and asked, "Chipper, what is YOUR purpose in life?" About 200 men and women waited for me to provide some sort of witty reply but this is what I said: "I hope and pray to be as fine a man as you are, Jack Barton."

You know folks, I am STILL TRYING my best...

I don't know anyone who can beat Tony Stack and his wife Mary when it comes to providing SNAPPY and QUICK-WITTED RETORTS.

I remember one time when I was shopping with my wife Kathy at Cerretani's (our favorite supermarket) when she saw a very PREGNANT Mary Stack, who was obviously on the BRINK of GIVING BIRTH.

Kathy asked, "Oh, Mary! Are you pregnant?" "No!" Mary retorted smiling, "I'm CARRYING FOR a FRIEND!"

Too many people are ready to carry the STOOL when there's a PIANO to be moved!... Steve Allen once said, "One of the nice things about problems is a good many of them do not exist except in our IMAGINATION..."

My sister Maureen shouted to me in a fit of ANGER, "I'm NEVER going to GET MARRIED!"

"Good," I shouted back, "if you DON'T MARRY, you'll make some man very HAPPY!" Then she threw a coffee cup at me and missed...

I know that all PRAYERS are good but they seem to have more meaning when they're recited while KNEELING down...

"VAN HELLSING" TOO CUTE

MOVIE: "VAN HELSING" GRADE: **

At times, this is a fantasy film is a decent monster movie, though it ultimately relies a little too heavily on the computer-animated eye candy for its own good.

Hugh Jackman plays the title role, a hero who heads off to rid the world of vampires, werewolves and other undead evil doers, who hooks up with Kate Beckinsale's romantic lead character along the way. While battling minor vampires along the way, his bloody trail of course leads him to the home of all monsters, Transylvania, where he eventually takes on the godfather of all bloodsuckers, Dracula himself.

Jackman and Beckinsale are good together, inserting wit and playful flirtation into some otherwise poorly-written scenes. Where the film begins to fall off the rails so to speak is when the monsters begin to run amok, and the computer animation gets a little too cute for its own good. A decent precursor to the special-effect spectacles that are sure to come during the summer months.

SHORTTAKES MOVIE: "GODSEND" GRADE: *

This wanna-be thriller about the dangers of cloning should have heeded its own message before filmmakers decided to clone every cliché from horror movies through the years.

The story centers around two parents, played by Greg Kinnear and Rebecca Romijn-Stamos, who lose their beloved eight-year-old son Adam in an accident. During their grief, as they are arranging his funeral, they are approached by Dr. Richard Wells, played by Robert De Niro, who entices them with an offer to clone and bring their son back.

They accept the offer, and things go well until Adam reaches the age where he originally died, and begins seeing strange things. He starts acting even stranger, and deadlier, and the film

Summer Vacation Art Camp in Wakefield

Joyful Hands, the summer Art Camp for children that uses books, stories, diverse cultural perspectives, daily themes and visualizations as inspiration for personal expression is once again being offered by Marianne Snow, M.Ed. and Mary Taggart, B.F.A. Because of the enthusiastic response and requests of the past 2 years, the camp is being offered for three weeks this year - Monday-Friday, July 12-16; July 26-30; and/or August 2-6. Joyful Hands has become what it's name has promised-a joyful place where children can create. Parents of campers have marveled at their child's daily creations-creations that mirror the joy, understanding and inspiration that is a daily part of the camp.

All children love to make things and Joyful Hands offers many unique and inspiring opportunities to do so. Snow, a former children's librarian, a teacher and an artist and Taggart, an artist and teacher, have come together to create an exceptional and enriching experience. Joyful Hands runs from 8:45 to 2:00 p.m. daily and is appropriate for children ages 7-13. Inspiration for the camp comes from children's literature, visualizations, and exposure to different cultural viewpoints. Each day has a theme represented in the books chosen. While each day is different, the daily structure remains constant. It includes many different venues - painting, sculpting, print-making, drawing, mosaic, collage and more. As Snow notes, "Kids love a consistent form and structure that they can anticipate and rely on as well as the freedom and opportunity to explore and express what they are experiencing. Joyful Hands offers all these things in a supportive and caring atmosphere."

Previous participants have loved their art experience. Children enjoy being in an environment where they can create all day! Because the curriculum is carefully planned, the projects are age appropriate but can be done at many levels. The children are supervised and guided throughout the main projects, but since they work at different speeds and levels, there are independent activities available during the day. Art activities are both process and product oriented. Each day concludes with a relaxation that all the campers appreciate as they integrate all they have experienced throughout the day. Taggart says, "Watching the students it is apparent that all children love to create- and that act of creation encourages learning and presents an opportunity for growth and enrichment. It is so rewarding to see how they interpret the different themes and use the different materials. And it is so much fun to share all of this with them."

State of Grace in Woburn

"While the W.R. Grace Co., represented by the Stubblebine Co., is looking to lease its former building at 369 Washington St. in East Woburn, federal environmental officials note the clean-up at the site is and will be continuing," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"The Grace property is one of five parcels that make up the Wells G and H Superfund site.

"There is still a remedy ongoing for this [site]," Joe LeMay, project manager for the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) said during a recent interview. The remedy involves pumping and treating of groundwater at the site 'that the agency would like to see continue,' said LeMay.

"He said the Grace site has been up for sale for a long time, but was being more aggressively marketed over the past couple of months.

"If there's going to be some development," he said, "they have to coordinate with the EPA."

"LeMay added there would have to be an agreement to continue environmental monitoring at the site at whatever frequency is necessary and the EPA would have to continue to have access to the site...."

Ready for action in Tewksbury

"The Tewksbury Business Association (TBA) has been an active organization for nearly ten years and, according to Membership Chairman Fred Ready, it is the best kept secret in town," notes the "Tewksbury Town Crier."

"The group of local business owners meets on the first Wednesday of every month at 7:30 a.m. at the Deli King Restaurant in Tewksbury to network and share business ideas and exchange leads. Those meetings, oftentimes, also include a keynote speaker of interest to the local business community. According to Ready, the organization has enjoyed visits from the Chief of Police, the Town Manager, members of the Planning Board and many others.

"As a business owner, you often feel all by yourself," Ready says. "This organization gives you a sense of community and the speakers let us know what is going on in the community around us."

"The TBA reaches out to the community by providing three scholarships to graduating students of Tewksbury Memorial High School and by participating in the Giving Tree at the Tewksbury Public Library during the holiday season.

"Ready's business has enjoyed dividends directly attributed to his membership with the TBA. He owns an awning company and has landed a number of jobs through leads originating from fellow members."

"According to Ready, the association includes representatives from all types of businesses, including accountants, florists, contractors, resume writers, insurance salespeople, financial planners, and attorneys to name a few. The association accepts multiple members from the same industry, but only one representative from any industry may be on the organization's steering committee at any one time.

"The organization does not plan to remain a secret for long. A membership drive began on April 1.

"Parties interested in more information are urged to visit the Deli King for one of the organization's meetings or to contact Ready at Ready Awning Company at 978-851-3963."

Wise council in Wilmington

Lynn Duncan, Wilmington's Director of Planning and Conservation, has been appointed by Governor Mitt Romney to serve on the new Commonwealth Development Coordinating Council (CDCC)," notes the "Wilmington Town Crier."

"The role of the council is to advise the office for Commonwealth Development in the preparation of a coordinated development policy for the Commonwealth that addresses housing, transportation, capital development, economic development and the preservation of natural resources in the Commonwealth.

"The Council includes the secretaries of the executive offices of economic development, housing and community development, environmental affairs, and transportation and construction, and the commissioners of the department of capital asset management and maintenance and the division of energy resources. The Council will meet on a quarterly basis."

School Notes

by Phyllis Nissen

NUMBERS UP, SO TO SPEAK

Spacemaking in Wakefield

"The Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School has sent out each community's assessment for Fiscal Year 2005," notes the Wakefield edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

"Each of the ten communities which send students to the school must contribute to the budget each year, based on the number of students from the city or town who attend the school."

"The FY05 budget is now at $15,664,297 and reflects an overall increase of about 2.5 percent over the previous year. The budget was the topic of a public hearing."

"The following is an overview of each city or town's assessment: Chelsea: $1,629,634; Malden: $1,300,008; Melrose: $292,505; North Reading: $273,416; Reading: $214,650; Revere: $2,414,236; Saugus: $1,522,051; Stoneham: $412,392; Wakefield: $394,798; Winchester: $92,382; Winthrop: $260,163; Woburn: $1,432,326."

"Northeast has received nearly double the number of applications than there are available openings at the school."

"Each class has a limit of 325 students. For the 2004-2005 school year, Northeast received nearly 600 applications prior to the March 1 deadline."

"It's sad because there are some students who just won't have a chance to attend, based on the sheer number of people who applied," Superintendent Patricia Cronin remarked.

"Each community has a quota. And should a particular city or town's quota not be met, applicants from other communities are invited to attend the school."

"The following is an overview of each community's quota versus the number of teens who applied for admission to the school for the upcoming school year."

"Chelsea: The student quota is 31 and a total of 149 applications were received.

"Malden: The student quota is 40 and a total of 101 applications were received."

"Melrose: The student quota is 25 and a total of 28 applications were received."

"North Reading: The student quota is 17 and a total of 19 applications were received."

"Reading: The student quota is 9 and a total of 30 applications were received."

"Revere: The student quota is 40 and a total of 122 applications were received."

"Saugus: The student quota is 22 and a total of 64 applications were received."

"Stoneham: The student quota is 22 and a total of 15 applications were received."

"Wakefield: The student quota is 25 and a total of 21 applications were received."

"Winchester: The student quota is 23 and a total of 2 applications were received."

Placeholding in Lynnfield

"A total of 58 children have been registered for the new fee-based, full day kindergarten program, which will be available in Lynnfield for the first time next school year," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"The format of the program will most likely be set as two classes at Summer Street School and one at Huckleberry Hill, according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Richard Palermo."

"Palermo noted that he expects the number of children registering for the full-day program to continue to grow and become increasingly more popular each year."

"The School Committee voted to cut the cost of the tuition by 25 percent to $2,600 a year. The fee had originally been set at $3,500, a number which drew numerous complaints from angry parents."

"The turn-out is what the School Committee had hoped for when it decided to create a tuition-based program; they had set a goal of three classes servicing 66 students. Each class would have approximately 20-22 students."

"While the registration period for in-coming kindergartners has not yet concluded, preliminary numbers suggest that a total of 93 students have registered at Summer Street and 68 have registered at Huckleberry Hill."

Time and saving in North Reading

"Every third grader learns about the Pilgrims and the Plymouth Colony, but how many discover how the Pilgrims financed their trip and colony?" notes the "North Reading Transcript."

"And how many connect the Pilgrim's financing with similar activities that are taking place in their own community today?"

"Thanks to Karen Tavernese, the North Reading branch manager of the Reading Co-operative Bank, third graders in Mr. Cassell's class at the Batchelder School know that the Pilgrims had to borrow money from London investors. They also had to ship goods, like lumber, fish and furs, back to the investors, and repay the loan. Mrs. Tavernese demonstrated that this arrangement between people who have money to spare and those that need money continues through banks today."

"Students took roles as wealthy Londoners, middle class colony organizers and poor colonists. Upon discovering that they did not have enough 'Monopoly' money for their venture, the organizers borrowed money from the Londoners and signed an agreement to repay the loan with interest. Students who didn't have enough money for their own passages had to agree to become indentured servants."

"Mrs. Tavernese, assisted by Carolyn Chilcote, the Wilmington branch manager, connected the Pilgrims'

•READING RESIDENT LINDSAY RHODES is closing out her senior year at Westover in Middlebury, CT with another great year on the mound for the Wildcats. In three games during the final week of April, the team co-captain notched two no-hitters and held a third opponent to just two runs with four hits. With the exception of three games her sophomore year when she was recovering from an ankle injury, Rhodes has started every game for Westover during her four year tenure. Her career record currently stands at 31-8. The Wildcats are looking to repeat as Connecticut Independent School Athletic Conference Champions, and hopefully advance to win the Western New England Softball Independent School championship as they did in 2002. Rhodes is headed to Salve Regina University in Newport, RI in the fall.

•READING'S JACKIE HOGAN, a freshman at Emmanuel College in Boston, was a member of the school's women's soccer team which won their first GNAC Division Championship which set their program record for most wins in a season, with 12. Hogan played as a starting sweeper, and was named to the GNAC All-Tournament Team, and GNAC Second Team All-Conference. During the spring outdoor track season, Jackie set a school record in the high jump (4'6") and was named Emmanuel College Freshman of the Year in track. She also participated in the hurdles, javelin and relays.

Hotels booking fast from S-1

However, it is pretty far in advance to know what is happening.

He added, "I think our business customers won't be shut out, because we haven't committed all of our rooms."

Tarson is looking forward to the extra business the convention will bring in and said it will be more profitable to his facility than the Boston Marathon was in April.

Drew Strout, general manager of the Lord Wakefield said, "We've had a lot of inquiries. I'm sure we are going to be sold out."

According to Strout, the convention is coming in the middle of what he describes as a "peak period. The rooms are at a premium."

He explained that the hotel normally gets a lot of weddings and other events during the period because of its location on the shores of Lake Quannapowitt. This year many of the inquiries for rooms are being accompanied by requests for meeting and banquet spaces.

Keith Acker, general manager of the Four Points Sheraton in Woburn noted that his facility is about 50 percent booked at this time.

"It is a busy week for us," Acker said, "but the convention is bringing in more business."

Acker and the other managers are also looking into the logistics of transporting the delegates and other convention goers into the Fleet Center. It is hoped that the DNC will be providing a shuttle from the Anderson Transportation Center and the hotels will just have to shuttle guests to that point.

The DNC stated in a release that "...a 300-vehicle motor pool to provide transportation for convention attendees, staff and equipment during Convention week (is being put together)."

The release added, "Vasta and Associates, Inc. has been selected to serve as the Site Transportation consultant, responsible for managing the bus shuttle system that will be used by delegates, dignitaries, elected officials, press and any other credentialed Convention participants requiring transportation to and from the Fleet Center to their designated Convention hotels. This shuttle system will serve over 10,000 people at 60-plus hotels throughout the metropolitan area."

The problem arises with the ever-changing announcements that the portion of the I-93 which goes past the Fleet Center will be closed for all or part of the time the Convention is in town.

The latest published reports state that security has been relaxed a little and the roadway will only be closed from 7 p.m.

to 11 p.m. on the four nights of the convention. However, it has also been noted that the closings will need to start at 4 p.m. with the start of the evening rush hour, so the road can be completely shutdown by 7 p.m.

As of Tuesday, the road closings were to start at the Leverett Connector detouring traffic to Sterrow Drive. As yet, it is not known where traffic will be allowed to get back on I-93 south.

These road closures are expected to have an impact on Route 128 as many drivers will try to use that road to get around the city.

It has been estimated that on a normal day, more than 65,000 cars drive through Somerville on McGrath and O'Brien Highway alone. The closure of I-93 is expected to double that amount.

An added headache is the proposed closings of North Station's commuter rail facility and the Green and Orange Line T stations in the area of the Fleet Center from the weekend before the convention until July 30, forcing 24,000 rail riders to transfer to subways and special buses in the suburbs for the ride to Boston.

Amtrak reported its Downeaster rail service, which carries 275,000 passengers a year between Portland, Maine, and Boston will be impacted during its busiest time of year because of the North Station closure. It is expected the service will likely be forced to end in Woburn, although they would like to get permission to terminate in Malden so passengers could transfer to the Orange Line subway.

Even the smaller hotels in the area, such as Woburn's Red Roof Inn are making plans for leasing a shuttle for conventioners. However, they have not had very much convention related activity as yet.

The word is there will be rooms, but they will be at a premium and they may be in the smaller facilities that do not feature function rooms.

Elements harmonize in lavish Bellingham

By Associated Designs

From the street, the estate-size Bellingham presents a pleasing medley of brick, stone, arched windows and gables. Inside you'll find a lavish spectrum of gathering spaces, some luxurious and some relaxed, plus five bedrooms and a den (or home office). The huge bonus room over the three-car garage could be finished as needed, or left as storage space.

Natural light spills into the dramatic two-story foyer through side-lights, a transom, and an arched window on the second level. An elegant staircase curves up the right side. It's easy to imagine a lovely bride making her graceful entrance here.

to begin a wedding ceremony. The second floor landing overlooks the entry area.

An arched opening on the left accesses a stately dining room, while double doors on the right open into a den. A passageway links the dining room and kitchen. One side of the passageway is lined with storage and display cabinets; a convenient powder room is on the opposite side. The den has its own private porch with a French door entry, which makes it ideal for use as a home office.

Everyday family life centers on the combination family room and kitchen. Family members will like sitting at the conversation bar, watching flames in the masonry fireplace, or clustering around the entertainment center. Plants thrive and people enjoy starting each day in this sunny nook.

Luxury amenities in the Bellingham's master suite include: a huge walk-in closet with drop-down ironing board, and a private bathroom with dual vanity, oversized shower and built-in dresser.

Two naturally illuminated stairways lead upstairs. A vaulted guest continues its headlong downward spiral from there.

Movies From S-2

The story is ridiculous as it is, when one starts to actually think about how this couple pulls off resurrecting their son without anyone noticing. The performances are mailed in, none more so than De Niro, who looks like he filmed this during a nap while he was resting up to appear in the "Meet the Parents" sequel later this year.

MOVIE: "MAN ON FIRE"
GRADE: *****

Denzel Washington stars in the latest, and best, revenge-type movie to hit the big screens.

Washington plays Creasy, a former CIA assassin who visits a former friend of his, played by Christopher Walken, in Mexico and ends up taking a job as a bodyguard for a rich couple's daughter, Lupita (played by Dakota Fanning). Bodyguards are sought after because there is a kidnapping every 60 minutes in Latin America, with many of the victims ending up dead.

A botched suicide attempt by Creasy opens up his eyes to the joys life has to offer, including his relationship as a mentor a protector to Lupita. When she is eventually kidnapped and feared dead, Creasy embarks on a killing spree, wiping out anyone and everyone who may have been involved or profited by the action.

This would be a typical action movie, if not for the interaction between Washington and Fanning. The two are excellent, and one can see a genuine relationship starting to build before it is torn apart. Washington is also very believable as a man struggling to put his own demons behind him, while working to rid the world of those at the end of his gun barrel.

Walken is also good as Creasy's friend Rayburn. If this were a 'Rambo' movie, Walken would be playing the part of Colonel Trautman, right down to this line - "Creasy's art is death, and he's about to paint his masterpiece."

MOVIE: "THE PUNISHER"
GRADE: ****

This is the first movie based on a Marvel Comics series to come out over the last six years that will likely flop.

Marvel has had a remarkable string as of late at the box office, successfully bringing their 'Spiderman', 'Hulk', and 'X-Men' franchises to the big screen, but this movie effectively ends that streak.

The story centers around the character of Frank Castle, a former hero of the Army's Delta Force unit, who sets out on a lifelong quest to avenge the deaths of his beloved family members. Imagine 'Rambo' meets 'Death Wish', and you have the basic premise wrapped around your finger.

John Travolta plays the villain, and spends almost as much time chewing up scenery on screen as Thomas Jane, who plays Castle, does.

The action is enjoyable, but at some point you need a little character development (and one or two different facial expressions by the hero perhaps). The real 'Punisher' is whoever convinces you to fork over $9 to see this one.

MOVIE: "SCOOBY DOO 2: MONSTERS UNLEASHED"
GRADE: ****

This movie is actually better than the original 'Scooby Doo' on some levels, but the acting hasn't gotten any better.

Although they already established themselves as the characters Fred and Daphne in the first movie, actors Freddie Prinze Jr. and Sarah Michelle Gellar looked so bored on screen in that movie it's surprising they signed on for this one (must have been the pay day). They aren't any better here, in a story that deals with someone magically causing all the costumes from every 'monster' that the gang has debunked over the years to come to life, thereby creating a free-for-all of fiends on screen.

The computer animated Scooby is funny to look at and listen to, and Matthew Lillard is once again adequate as Shaggy, but longtime fans of the cartoon show will be disappointed once again by this live-action version.

MOVIE: "DAWN OF THE DEAD"
GRADE: ****

This remake of this classic 1970s George Romero horror flick manages to bring the zombie movie into the modern era, and the legitimately scary moments almost make up for the horrific acting that appears on screen.

Though no reason is ever given, people all over a small Wisconsin town, and perhaps across the country, begin dying and then coming back to life as mindless, flesh-eating cannibals. The small group of survivors who have yet to be bitten by the zombies (that is how whatever virus these creatures have is transmitted) congregate in a local mall, and formulate a plan to escape to a boat, and then head off to an island where theoretically no one would be infected yet.

The acting is terrible, but there are some genuinely scary moments involving the folks formerly known as corpses, including a newborn baby.
